During my long career at Cape Canaveral and the Kennedy Space Center, launch bases I was very fortunate to meet what a Hollywood film titles A League of many Extraordinary Gentlemen. One of these E G's was Dr. Ernst Steinhoff, the Senior Scientists with a team of excellent German engineers, technicians and scientists at Holloman A.F.B. in New Mexico.

I recall the year as being 1969, due to our first attempt at a moon landing of NASA Astronauts, Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins and Buzz Aldrin, on 20 July 1969. Dr. Steinhoff attended that historic launch at the Kennedy Space Center, Florida from launch pad 39A. I was there and observed him in the special VIP viewing area.

I had the afternoon before completed an assignment at Apollo launch Pad 39B and did my usual launch pad inspection for any unknown explosive devices when I spotted Dr. Kurt Debus, the KSC, Director, with a gentleman. Dr. Debus waved to me to come to them. Dr.

Debus introduced me to Dr. Ernst Steinhoff who he said was the senior scientist at Holloman A.F.B., in New Mexico.

Dr. Debus explained to him of my many years of work at Cape Canaveral and the KSC. As we walked, I recalled a special event at Holloman, I asked the two scientists if I could speak with Dr. Steinhoff later today? Both agreed I could do so. Dr. Debus asked me to call his office for a time. After closing out my daily duties, I called and was told to come to the office of Dr. Debus at 5 PM. I arrived at about 4:55 PM. His secretary informed Dr. Debus and he said to have me enter his office.

I entered and saw Dr. Steinhoff seated at his right of his desk side. Dr. Debus asked me to be seated beside Dr. Steinhoff. As I sat down, I looked at him and saw an old man who was perhaps ill and who has travelled a road through WW II and who has perhaps had an experience of his lifetime at Holloman A.F. B. We three briefly spoke of the planned Apollo Program activities.

I then asked Dr. Steinhoff if I can interview him. He said yes and Dr. Debus gave a head nod, OK.

Sir, there has been a report to me seven years ago, in 1962, by a person who was a trusted tech engineering aid to you and other Germans at Holloman in the 1950 span of years. I cannot disclose his name because he is in fear of losing his retirement. Dr. Steinhoff understood.

He said he believes you were at Holloman AFB in 1955? Can you please recall if you were there? Dr. Steinhoff said as he thought back a few years he recalled he made several visits to this base and a visit to Holloman AFB in that year, 1955. The Dr. Stienhoff was going to be transferred to that base in the future, he was not certain when. He could not recall the exact dates. He did say, was there during what was called a surprised visit by U.S. A. President Eisenhower who flew in with no early notice of those I spoke with that worked there. Although, the base United States Air Force Officer that managed Holloman, Colonel Sharp did have prior knowledge of his arrival but not all who worked there. It was a secret. It was a big surprise to all others who saw his large plane land who was working various functions there.

I asked Dr. Steinhoff did you observe President Eisenhower at any time? He said yes, he thought it was Eisenhower, because a person near me, said it was Eisenhower. He did see him but not close-up. He borrowed a pair of 50 power binoculars and watched President Eisenhower walking with the upright stature of a former U.S. Army General Officer along the runway. There were many other base workers, watching with him as the President walked from his large presidential plane, the Columbine III on the landing runway towards a strange unknown ship that had landed on the same strip ahead of the presidential aircraft. It was large and if my memory serves me right, what I believe was saucer shaped like a dinner dish. Can you recall the diameter of it, Dr. Steinhoff? He hesitated to recall in his memory. Then he said, it was about the size of  $\frac{3}{4}$  of the wing span of the Presidential plane and the central portion of the disc was about fifteen or more feet higher. It was very large. As the President walked towards the strange disc, no human or any creature came forth to greet him. Which we all thought was strange.

A ramp opened as President Eisenhower approached the disc. He walked up that ramp and we all saw him disappear inside that craft. We saw no others on the tar pad viewing this thing other than some of the base workers standing near Dr. Steinhoff. The men with him said they feared for the President that entered that craft.

We continued to watch through 50 power binoculars yet some of base workers with them had to return to their work stations. He estimated that the time that the President walked into this craft to when he reappeared, was longer than about a half hour. Perhaps 40 or more minutes. He observed no other base military police during this entire time he experienced this event, no base security police were sent to protect and meet him. This writer thought, is this craft an alien vehicle, or is it one of our own in the future?

Because I worked with the German Scientists that were brought to the USA by Dr. Wernher von Braun in 1946/7. Several told me that WW II German Scientists by the many thousands escaped from Germany near the fall of Germany in WW II. They boarded advanced submarines in the Baltic Sea. They all were taken to the South Pole base located underground, in Antarctica. Some called it Hitler's Shangri La. Those scientists created advanced anti-gravity craft that were flying in our air space for many years. And still are. They were observed over Washington, DC in 1952 by President Harry S. Truman. Yes, we did not have any aircraft that could stop these German planes from flying over our national capital in 1952. So German scientific expertise was again showing the USA who was boss.

Dr. Steinhoff did not personally meet the President during this time span. He said he watched his giant plane take off from the runway.

The other sound of an engine that was a soft humming coming from the strange disc craft was eventually heard as it rose off the earth, gained altitude and disappeared into the atmosphere and perhaps into outer space. Dr. Steinhoff added, he thought that humming sound was made from a anti-gravity engine he recalled from earlier German testing in Poland with Dr. Kurt Debus and his crew there. Following this unique experience, Dr. Steinhoff wondered if it was an alien craft from space or an advanced vehicle of human creation, perhaps a German vehicle he was not aware of as yet. That was a good guess, Sir. (This Writer comment to Dr. Stienhoff)

It was a German Flying Saucer that he and others saw at this base. President Eisenhower, being from German heritage realized that when he was met by a German officer as he boarded that Saucer. The President then realized why none came forth to greet him as he entered that German advanced flying machine.

I recall something I heard Dr. Kurt Debus say to Dr. Knothe, the Senior Scientist at KSC, as I entered his office one day. He was speaking of a V-7 craft and my entrance startled both of them. I apologized for walking in on them. Dr. Debus said it was “OK, Clark” to me. Later, I discovered through another German Scientist that the V-7 was the code name for a German Saucer shaped craft that was developed below the South Polar Ice Cap. The same type that over flew Washington, DC and startled President Truman and the Pentagon Chiefs in 1952.
