

WELCOME TO THE MEMBERSHIP POST 41

MY MOTTO, TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT

Exposure of Evil

Confirms our Divinity

Clearly, Evil has been exposed in every facet of existence on this sorrow-filled planet.

The demonic activity is unmistakable.

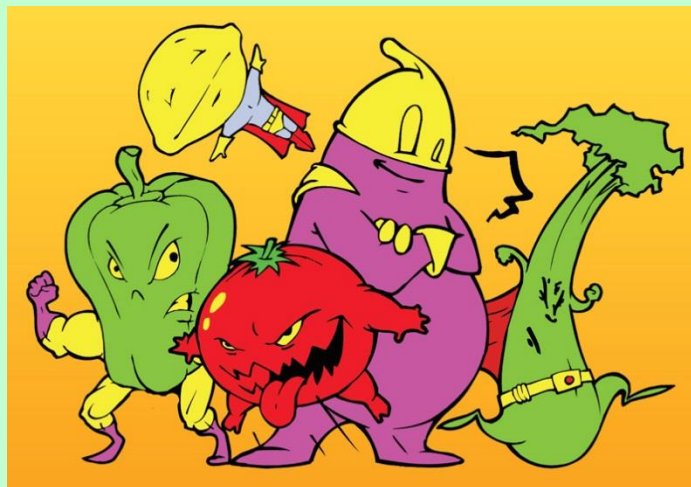

War, War, War,

Murder of one's own citizens in false Flags such as 9/11 to create my conflict;

Poisoning of food as per GMO foodstuffs;

Bombing of Nuclear sites to destroy the seas, as per Fukushima;

Poisoning the air with Chemtrails

Promoting vaccines to cause Autism and Dementia and more....

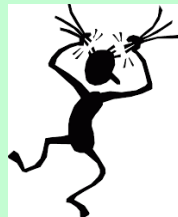

<http://beforeitsnews.com/terrorism/2015/09/dr-andrew-moulden-every-vaccine-produces-harm-2455242.html>

Bombing the daylights out of demonized civilians, and murderously destabilizing the populations as we have seen in Iraq, Afghanistan, Egypt, Libya;

Terminal Pollution of water and soil with fracking;

Poisoning and sterilizing plants via such destructive and deadly agents such as Roundup;

The list goes on and on.....

The Agenda for reducing the World's Population is no joke. It is a reality!

I had predicted that this exposure of Evil and all its evil practices would occur, stating the Light Essence would be withdrawing for a time in order to allow this to occur.

The reason for the exposure of Evil was to:

- Allow EVERYBODY to see that Evil exists

- Make people realize this sort of existence cannot possibly continue;

- Make people reflect on their own ontological nature.

By reflecting on the Evil we see daily, and by acknowledging the ruthlessness and hypocrisy of those who have taken charge of Humanity we are forced to see ourselves as being different from these demonic entities.

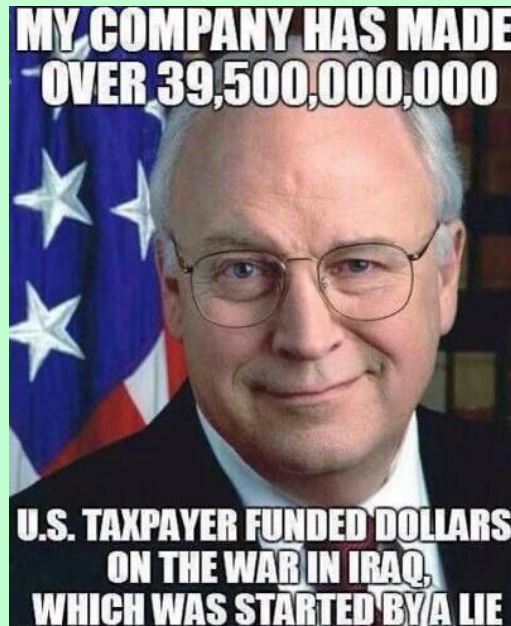

There is no other name that suits them better. They are DEMONS, full stop.

We are not like them.

We could never be like them.

Even though we are incensed BY THEIR ACTIONS, and would readily strike out at them, we know we are not evil like them.

TO KNOW THAT WE ARE NOT EVIL WHEN WE COMPARE OURSELVES TO THESE DEMONIC ENTITIES IS A WONDERFUL CONCLUSION TO REACH.

THE RESULT OF SUCH A COMPARISON IN ALL HONESTY IS WONDERFUL
FOR IT DEFINITELY PROVIDES US THE PROOF OF THE EXISTENCE OF GOOD AND EVIL.

We can never be Evil.

Hence, we must be of a Good essence.

Having established that, we can extrapolate that there is indeed a War between Good and Evil.

More than that, we now see.

We see Evil is on a self-destructive path all over the planet, for things simply cannot continue this way.

Thus, if Evil and all its minions and sycophants self-destruct, and we are left, it means, clearly, that we have WON the War of Essences!

These realizations are of paramount importance.

Examine yourselves internally.

Are you Evil like the ones we know are absolutely Evil – the ones that kill easily, are very cruel to animals, bomb the daylights out of Nations, displace populations, poison them, starve them, infect them with fatal agents, etc. etc.?

Are we like the demons that bombed Dresden, Hiroshima, and the Twin Towers?

Of course we are not!!

Therefore we MUST, of necessity, belong to a Family that is not Evil;
a family of Goodness and Peace and Love.

We are of substance Divine

That is the proof we give ourselves.

No one else has to tell us.

We know in our hearts what we are.

The ability to perceive truly allows us to acknowledge who we are in ontological terms.

Thus, by identifying the Demons, as is easily done with their Evil being exposed everywhere, we see ourselves as different in the special sense that we are NOT evil.

Demons do not see themselves as Evil.

They have no True Vision.

This True Vision we possess is a special gift for the Endtime.

We were promised this True Vision and were told that we would all know who is who!

Without the special vision, we would be as blinded as we were before we awoke spiritually.

Look back at how you were before you awakened.

You were easily fooled, were you not, by those whom you now recognize as despicable demons?

There is no longer room for pretence.

Those of Evil cannot pretend they are Good for we can see that they are evil.

The game is over for them.

They are well and truly finished.

Their wailing and gnashing of teeth will come to naught.

Conversely, our true existence is just beginning.

We have an infinity of Glory awaiting us.

TIMING IS EVERYTHING

Very briefly, I want to examine the timing aspect of my work, your work, and

The Timing of the End.

As a child I received instructions about my future work in adulthood.

If you regress back to your early years in this life, I am sure most of you would have been likewise instructed. Try to recall!

In my teens I was allowed to remember Space Wars.

It was around that time that my High Being's identity was revealed to me in an occult manner. But, being trapped in the Catholic Religion, for I was still a programmed child, I misinterpreted the signs and accepted them on a false religious paradigm.

At 17, I experienced a dream of a visitation by the 'Golden Ball'. I have written about that in my books. I searched as much as I could about such a dream/visitation and found only one other person, Shri Aurobindo, had had such an experience. Later it was made clear to me I had been that individual in a previous incarnation, so the pattern was confirmed. To be honest, I have absolutely no recollection of that life.

In the early 1960s I was told I would not be needed for some 20 years.

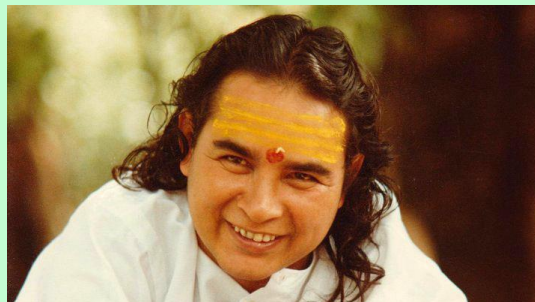

By my mid-30s, I felt an irresistible urge to find 'something else' in my life. I was well trapped as a consuming, competing Super Rat in the Rat Race.

I knew no better than to live the Illusion in the Virtual Reality, as most of you have done, and others around me could not understand this urge I was feeling. It took me almost 5 years to respond to the 'call from within' and awaken spiritually.

That my meetings with Sai baba and Babaji were major stepping stones is indisputable.

The two most important things Babaji said to me were these:

- 1 "Everything you need to know is in your heart!"

2 “When the Blue Star appears, your work and mine will be finished and we can go Home!”

This sentence varies slightly to what I wrote previously. But I found these words in an essay I wrote much closer to the time he said them.

In 2014, I was shocked when I was informed by Higher Sources, through a close psychic friend who had previously been very accurate with information, that “My Work” was finished.

I thought I had to tell the World this and that.

I thought I had to reach unknown numbers to make them aware.

I thought I was to go out and stand on a hill top yelling to the masses.

I thought I had to force everyone to read my books.

I was wrong!

It was, in fact, all over.

The END was in sight!!!

Had not the Theomorphic Viabes been removed from the physical in November 1999?

Indeed they had.

Had not each individual been assessed for Viability?

Indeed it had.

So, what other active work was there for me to do?

Absolutely none is the answer.

Obviously the flow of energies would be automatic and no further exposure was needed.

I must admit I found it difficult to stand still, for at the same time I had quit working as a doctor.

By January 2015, the idea of writing for the select few – the Splinters – entered my mind.

That exercise has not only kept me focused, but it has also distilled the Work we are doing to passively and actively see that the correct energies flow around the planet.

But suddenly, with continuous consideration of Planet X, some doubts of local mechanisms entered my head.

I was forced to broaden my vision.

Were coming events more than the sum of the parts I had put together?

I suspect they were.

And so, the following essay began to formulate in my head.

WHAT'S UP DOC??

The more I wrote about Planet X, the more I became perturbed.

No, I am not that big, with my own gravity field.

I am a trim and athletic ...let's see.... 90.... 95.... 100 kg ... something like that.

OK, OK, so I make the tyres on the car I drive look flat.

I'm big boned! .... especially between the ears.

Jerry, get off the keyboard. People will think it's me that's writing that stuff.

Gees Dr C., live a little.

Your stuff is as dry as a.....moonbeam.

Be that as it may, I run this show, OK?

You can have your Jerry Attrick Corner if you wish, later.

Now I'm confused. I don't know whether to call you a bonehead or a meat head.

And get out of that silly outfit!

But, but, ....it's my pajamas

Oh Lord, he's driving me round the Benz.....

DAYS OF THE TROUBLED

The perturbations I wrote above have nothing to do with my girth, mind you, and nothing to do with the proximity to unknown hot, steaming bodies,

Much like what Planet X is described as being....

And they have nothing to do with Neptune, Pluto, Uranus, or anybody else's anus or other booby parts. They are mental perturbations that some thinkers get.

You know that is me in the cartoon cos he has grey hair and I have grey hair. It's called scientific and forensic deduction.

BTW, Aristotle was a S'head of Darkness.

Why do I say that? He managed to change Plato's Philosophy from a truthful Spiritual Basis to one of Empiricism that made the Illusion of the Virtual Reality the Truth!

Let's move on ....

The more I thought about the subject of the equation of Planet X and the End, the more I became dissatisfied with the supposed evidence, so I kept thinking, and eventually the penny dropped.

I HAD TO THINK BIG!!

IN GALACTIC PROPORTIONS!

Let's me start at the beginning, and develop my thoughts of what I think is going on.

We are being blinded by religious shills, ignorant idiots, government perversion, and plane stupidity of the masses that are being told anything and everything as long as it has no resemblance to Truth.

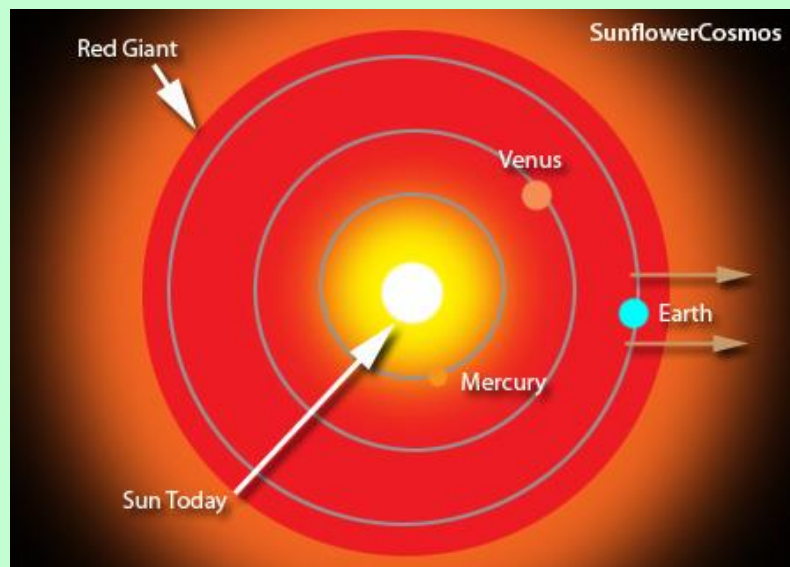

So, off we go on our journey:

I was driving to Taos NM to give a lecture when the thought struck me that not just Earth was going to end, but the entire Solar System too.

No one had ever written or said that as far as I could tell.

I have no idea where the information came from – obviously it was from some other level of consciousness - and I simply filed it in my cortex.

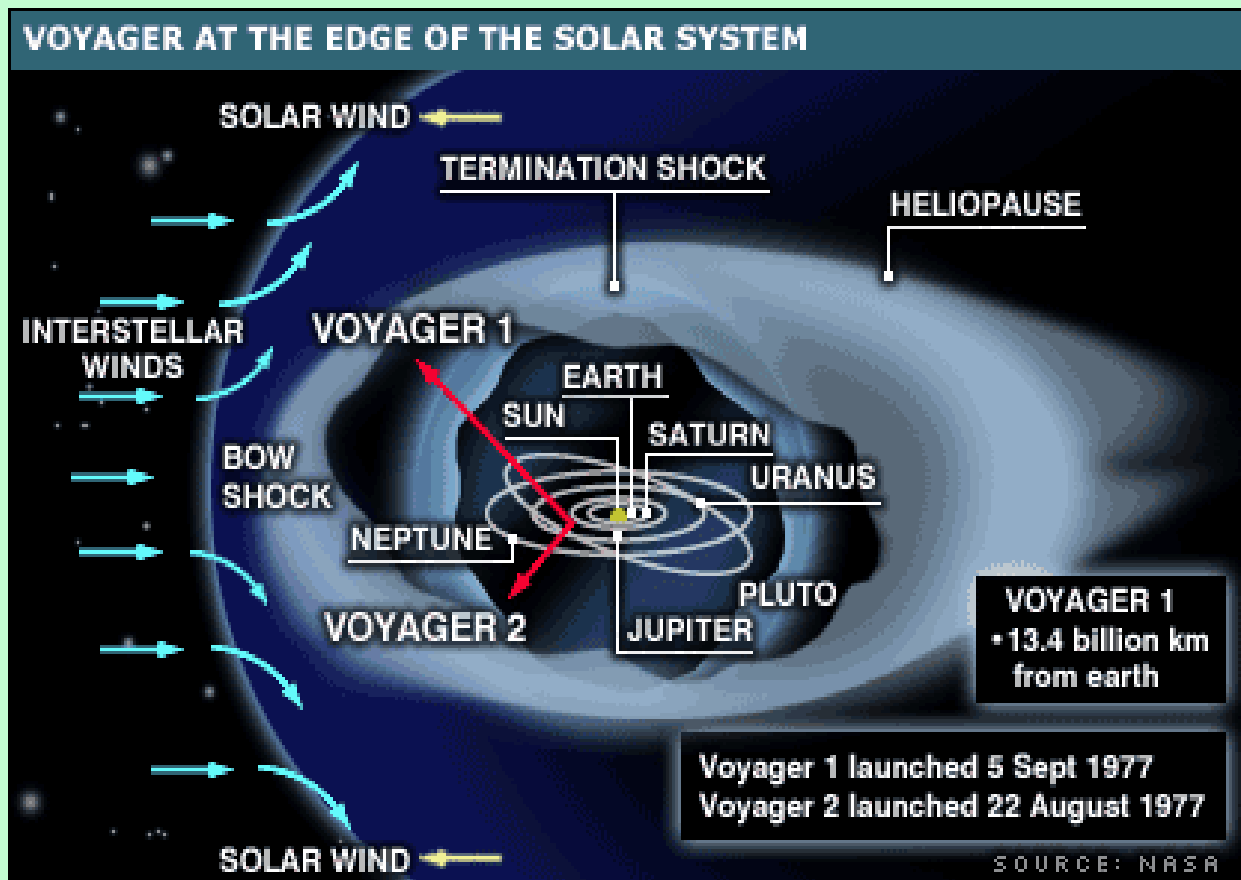

Much, much later I read a brief article on the Internet that claimed that the European Astronomical Society had predicted our Sun was dying and was showing signs of turning into a Red Giant which would not only engulf Earth within its outer boundary, but also fry the entire Solar System.

Sometime in 2012, I was on a Radio Show with Jeff Rense. He asked me about the Mayan Prediction of December 2012. Of course many were saying it was going to be the end of all things. If any of you can find the show, let me know.

I assured him that the World would not end there in December 2012. But I did say that changes were occurring in the Centre of the Galaxy and that we could expect 'dirty interstellar wind' from that source to affect us.

To be quite honest with you, even I did not fully realize what that meant in practical terms. The information simply presented in my mind instantly when Jeff asked me the question, and I gave it out. Obviously my Higher Being was feeding me information.

I then connected this dirty wind concept to highly charged Neutrinos that scientists were beginning to find deep inside the Earth by way of deep mine shafts.

I wondered what those neutrinos were doing, where were they coming from and what their intention was. We now know nothing is accidental, right?

We all know the story of perturbations occurring in the orbits of outer planets, and that being the reason why some outer planets were further discovered and also Planet X's existence was postulated.

Then my interest in Planet X was stimulated. Up until that time, I had not given it a great deal of consideration. It was not time. Timing is everything.

I had read what Nancy Lieder had written and her recall of what the Zetas had said about the subject and I found that quite ridiculous.

As I read and wrote about planet X, I passively accepted what others wrote, especially regarding it affecting Earth and causing heating, volcanic eruptions, Tsunamis and such.

Without too much thought about the subject I even accepted glibly what others said about Planet X heating the entire Solar System.

But then when I wrote the essay comparing what many had said (Post 39) I rethought the whole concept. I gave you 12 sources, the last being Babaji's words on the matter.

The other 11 sources disagreed on timing, velocity, location, earthly effects and so on.

It is then that the penny dropped!

I could not find Planet X anywhere near Earth for it to have such physical effects, especially the heating effects.

It was far too small, remote and anaemic to heat the entire Solar System.

Clearly, or so I thought, another mechanism was at play.

I even considered Bell's Theorem of non-local causality causing these problems, but they were so diffuse, I dispelled that concept. It fitted far better into the thought I was developing.

So, for now, Planet X was too far away from Earth to have the effects attributed to it.

So, what was affecting our Entire Solar System, including, of necessity, our Earth and Sun and all the planets simultaneously?

It was the "DIRTY WIND", WAS IT NOT?

Of course, of course, it was the wind!

Now, where was it coming from, of what was it composed and why was it happening?

Another penny dropped!

The whole bloody Galaxy is fragmenting!!

The Galaxy was/is decaying internally and spewing caustic Neutrinos, Gamma rays and other things we don't even recognize yet, as it laments in its death throes.

Monster Black Hole's Mighty Belch Could Transform Entire Galaxy

by Calla Cofield, Space.com Staff Writer

Date: 19 February 2015 Time: 02:01 PM ET

This artist's illustration depicts the furious cosmic winds streaming out from a monster supermassive black hole as detected by NASA's NuSTAR space telescope and the European Space Agency's XMM-Newton X-ray observatory. CREDIT: NASA/JPL-Caltech

A ravenous, giant black hole has belched up a bubble of cosmic wind so powerful that it could change the fate of an entire galaxy, according to new observations.

Researchers using two X-ray telescopes have identified a cosmic wind blowing outward from the supermassive black hole at the center of galaxy PDS 456.

Astronomers have seen these winds before, but the authors of the new research say this is the first observation of a wind moving away from the center in every direction, creating a spherical shape.

The wind could have big implications for the future of the galaxy: It will cut down on the black hole's food supply, and slow star formation in the rest of the galaxy, the researchers said.

And it's possible that strong cosmic winds are a common part of galaxy evolution — they could be responsible for turning galaxies from bright, active youngsters to quiet middle-agers. [The Strangest Black Holes in the Universe]

Big Eater

The supermassive black hole at the center of PDS 456 is currently gobbling up a substantial amount of food: A smorgasbord of gas and dust surrounds the black hole and is falling into the gravitational sinkhole. As matter falls, it radiates light. The black hole at the center of PDS 456 is devouring so much matter, that the resulting radiation outshines every star in the galaxy. These kinds of bright young galaxies are known as quasars: a galaxy with an incredibly bright center, powered by a supermassive black hole with a big appetite.

New observations of PDS 456 have revealed a bubble of gas moving outward, away from the black hole. Using NASA's Nuclear Spectroscopic Telescope Array (NuSTAR) and ESA's (European Space Agency) XMM-Newton, the authors of the new research imaged the galaxy on five separate occasions in 2013 and 2014.

The researchers say they can show that the photons of light emitted by the in-falling matter are pushing on nearby gas, creating the wind.

Scientists have studied these cosmic winds before, but the authors of the new research say their work goes a step further.

"It tells us that the shape of the wind is not just a narrow beam pointed in our direction. It is really a wind that is flowing in every direction away from the black hole," said Emanuele Nardini, a postdoctoral researcher at Keele University in Staffordshire, England. "With a spherical wind, the amount of mass it carries out is much larger than just a narrow beam."

According to a statement from NASA, galaxy PDS 456 "sustains winds that carry more energy every second than is emitted by more than a trillion suns." Such powerful winds could change the entire landscape of PDS 456, the researchers say.

First, the wind will blow through the disk of matter surrounding the black hole — this disk currently serves as the black hole's food supply. The cosmic wind created by the black hole's appetite could significantly reduce or destroy the disk. In other words, the black hole cannot have its cake and eat it, too. [Images: Black Holes of the Universe]

Bright young things

With no matter left to fall into the black hole, the radiation would cease as well. The brilliant center of the quasar will dim. By diminishing the black hole's food supply, they may turn quasars and other "active galaxies" like PDS 456 into quiescent galaxies like the Milky Way. Theorists have proposed that cosmic winds could explain why there are more young active galaxies than old active galaxies.

"We know that in almost every galaxy, a supermassive black hole resides in the center," said Nardini. "But, most of the galaxies we see today are quiescent, they are not active in any way. The fact that galaxies today are quiescent — we have to find an explanation for that in something that happened a long time ago." (Like I said before, they are dead and awaiting liquidation! In addition to quenching the radiation from an active black hole, these cosmic winds may slow down star formation in galaxies. The cosmic wind could blow through regions thick with gas and dust, where young stars form, and thin out the fertile stellar soil.

"If you have a black hole with this kind of wind, in millions of years [the winds] will be able to quench star formation and create a galaxy like our own," Nardini said. Stars will still form in the Milky Way, but not at the high rate of many young galaxies.

It's possible that these cosmic winds are a central reason why most galaxies go from being brightly burning active youngsters to quiet middle-agers.

They have indeed missed the point. What is seen is the DYING process of Galaxies!

<http://www.scientificamerican.com/article/it-s-official-the-universe-is-dying-slowly/>

According to Babaji, the Universe is roughly 50 billion years old. It needs just over half that time for winds at 2 million miles per hour to reach where our Solar System is from the effusive dead centre of the Galaxy, represented by a huge Black Hole.

Making an assumption that the Universe was condemned by the Light after compromise was rejected by the Evil Mind of the error, we are right on target to cop the End of everything between us and the Centre of the Galaxy.

That is why our Sun is going to become a Red Giant.

That is why the entire Solar System is heating up and going to die.

That is why Planet X is only of secondary importance.

These suppositions, for which there is a good deal of evidence, support my assertions that the Earth will end, the Solar System will end and the entire Milky Way will end.

Extrapolate this activity to the entire Physical Universe and you can see why 95% of it has already been annihilated.

More and more the evidence of Universal Destruction piles up!

<http://www.rt.com/news/315756-black-hole-collision-galaxy/>

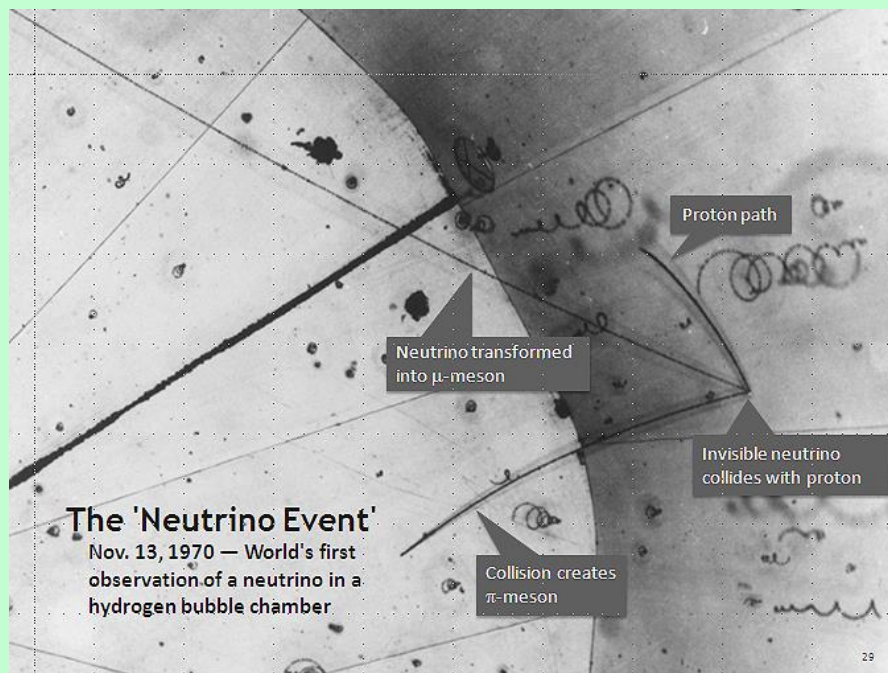

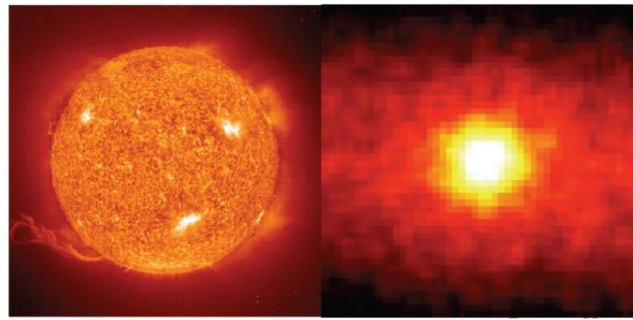

You should consider the amount of distracting BS that comes with such articles that are chronicled by the Masters of Cultivate Ignorance.

What are the agents of the heat we are experiencing?

Why, those dirty fully laden little Neutrinos of course:

Solar Neutrinos

Ha Ha! Here are the little alien culprits:

<http://myscienceacademy.org/2015/09/11/distant-neutrinos-detected-below-antarctic-ice/>

What is causing all this?

Why have the Neutrinos so much 'energy'?

Do you recall my announcement of the arrival of the DED?

Alas, it's Time, it's Time !!

We are in the Death Throes of an imperfect system

From any angle, it can be seen we are TOASTED!

With any consideration of destruction of the entire Physical Universe, many questions arise that the physical mind would like answered.

Are there more Universes?

Is the end of the Universe the end of a natural process?

Or

Is it the result of the action of an active Superior Force that wants to see it terminated?

The fact that this body has received the notion that 95% of the Universe has been destroyed would mean that there is consciousness outside of this Universe which can make this assessment.

That being the case, it would tend to lead to the idea that the destruction is part of a process initiated by consciousness outside of the Physical Universe.

That leads one to ask why an outer and presumably Superior Consciousness would want to destroy (dismantle) it.

And doing it section by section would tend to lead to the notion that it is a calculated process.

If the Consciousness doing the destruction is situated outside of the Physical Dimension, it means it is working on a different Time Basis, for the time of each dimension is different.

That being the case, it does not matter how long it takes for the entire demolition, for in the dimension of the Consciousness doing the demolition, that time may be of far shorter duration than the time within the doomed Dimension.

The assumptions in all this are obvious:

A Superior Consciousness, beyond the capabilities of the consciousness that rules this Physical Dimension must exist.

It must have the Authority and Power to destroy that which is not wanted in Creation.

It must have the ability to choose which particles of consciousness within the Physical Dimension are to be rescued in order to continue existence and which are to be destroyed.

That some individuals, like me and you, can receive data from outside this Physical Dimension must mean that we have a connection to Sources outside of the Physical Universe.

That means we are either from outside this Universe or else Consciousness from outside has come to us to make contact and remains within us till the End of the Physical.

If that is so, we can extrapolate that we ourselves may have aspects within us that are either from outside the Universe or are to continue outside this Universe once it is totally destroyed.

"My Kingdom is not of this World!"

Thus, with these thoughts, we have expanded beyond the Prosaic and limited Esoteric levels of Knowledge and reached a Supramental Level.

What do I mean by that?

By acknowledging the presence of Consciousness beyond the Physical (and remember the Etheric and Astral are part of the Physical) we can say we have evidence of, and contact with, a Supramental Plane that exists beyond the Physical.

What is so difficult about acceptance of such concepts?

They are of simple logic.

And yet, idiots like Aristotle did their best to destroy such notions with their Illusional Empiricism.

The stumbling block is the fact that I cannot provide any proof whatsoever of these assertions,
And this you must clearly understand and accept

***

And so we come to

Timing of Events.

We are mainly concerned about our existence on Earth at this point.

I should mention that we are connected to other aspects of a Superior Consciousness which resides within other existing aspects of the Physical, and permanently outside of the Physical.

But, with our simple Monkey Minds, we want to know our fate on this level at this point.

Do we have any way of timing the End of this sector of Creation?

We do.

We cannot rely on scientific and astrological observations of the heavens and the occurrences witnessed by our telescopes, for what we are observing occurred long, long ago.

Thus, to see a Galaxy swallowed by a Black Hole far, far away may have been an event billions of years ago.

We need contemporaneous data. Is there any?

Yes, but it is anecdotal.

1     In 1985, I was told that the World would be destroyed no later than 2035.

Do we really need to restrict the word 'World' as meaning Earth only?

I don't think so,

From the mere fact that I received information as I was driving to Taos that the entire Solar System was going to be destroyed, we can assume the word World meant more than Earth.

Later, as I received the notion that over 90% of the Universe had already been 'corrected', I again suspected that 'World' meant much more than Earth. It could well be taken to mean the Galaxy, or many Galaxies.

We have to keep an open mind at all times when it comes to prophecy.

I have written this many times.

Prophecy is a tool of Warfare.

Hence, was that open prophecy given to me that the opposition could listen to for my benefit (of knowing a time table) or was it for the benefit of fooling the Evil enemy?

We have no way of knowing the answer, do we?

Hence, all we can do is to keep it in mind and be flexible about the date.

We agreed to play such roles, and we cannot be too disappointed when things don't happen the way we have been told.

Then again, if the date turns out to be correct, well and good. We shall celebrate.

The date may be valid based on the fact that "Aliens" prepared me as a child for such an End-of-Earth-scenario.

Conversely, it came from 'Aliens' speaking through Amitakh who acted as a trance medium.

I have since learned to distrust anything that came out of that woman's mouth.

2 "When the Blue Star appears.....we can go Home."

This utterance by Babaji is of utmost significance for it pinpoints even more acutely the End of this sector of the Abomination for us of Light.

The fact that He said 'our work will be done' meant we were working on some timed schedule.

It meant He knew when that work would end.

He knew what the work was.

He pinpointed our exit from this Hell.

We must believe this is so, even though speculative limits apply!

And when is that exact point in time for the End of our work and our exit?

Believe it or not, it will be when I see the Blue Star with my own eyes!

When I spot the Blue Star I can then call down the Rescue Crafts and we can be off.

That is why I have been watching the skies so assiduously.

That is why my interest in Planet X peaked of late.

Before that it was not time.

That is why I ridiculed the conflicting nonsense of all those who reported the speed, progress, location and appearance of Planet X in contrasting manner.

Last year, I was told by Superior Consciousness that my public work was finished.

Since then, apart of sharing with you, I have been marking time.

We should be packed and ready to go!

Your work and mine is done!

Our heritage is now Eternal Laughter, Happiness, Joy and Fun!

I know we all want vengeance for all the evil deed those of Evil have done to us.

But, is that not petty when we think of how they will fry for Eternity with the Eternal Moment of Horror in their minds?

Forget those of Evil. They know they have lost and that we have won!

WARNING

Dear Members, inspite of all that I have written, I must again warn you that there is no guarantee of accuracy with regard to what could or will happen, and its timing.

We hope always for the best but expect the Unexpected.

You know the positive strike rate of Prophecy, regardless of its source, is ridiculously low.

Hence, have your wits about you at all time.

We cannot understand what is really going on.

If we try to work things out with the Lower Monkey Mind we could well go insane.

For example, why are honest people not helped more by the Light so their suffering is minimized?

Why cannot animals trapped in a Zoo, and going crazy, as many do, especially the more highly developed animals such as bears and gorillas, not be allowed to die off rather than suffer the misery of Madness for so long, locked up in compounds and cages?

Why can mercy not be shown to beings of Light who are jailed and exploited horribly by the demons? One example that comes to mind is Giordano Bruno. I have mentioned him before. What was his crime? The Vatican locked him up because he believed other life forms existed in the Universe. After seven years of imprisonment, they barbequed him. Could not the Light simply remove the consciousness and leave the Vatican rats a dead carcass to kick around?

We cannot work these things out. We were told we would not be able to by simply using the lower mind. We must trust all will be well in due course.

Here is my old website again.

There are items of interest within it.

MODERN LIFE

A Gnostic Perspective, part 2

One cannot have any fun by using the external evil factors which pollute, program and indoctrinate True Beings. Fun, enjoyment, harmony, peace, contentment, love, compassion CAN ONLY COME from the Divine Inner Being.

There is no need for external factors. They must be rejected completely and connection with the Inner Being made. All other external factors are severely polluting and detrimental to one's spiritual well-being. Examine any factor you wish on this plane, and you will find that each has been created by Evil to destroy the True Beings after trapping and exploiting them.

- The very sunlight that some people worship causes deleterious programming in True Beings;
- the very oxygen we breathe also does this;
- most foods that people consume cause evil programming,
- as do certain drinks, drugs, infections,
- the influence of wealth or poverty,
- peer pressure, often spouse pressure, family pressure,
- the "isms": racism, nationalism and so on.

What is it that gives people fun on this plane? Examine the concept closely. Is it by staying up as late as possible, or by drinking until they drop? Is it by being gluttonous, by cavorting and being as promiscuous as possible, by being destructive and anti-social when on binges? Is it by abusing substances, or by speeding on the roads? Is beating others fun? What is it that gives them fun? Are these not the things that people pursue on this plane?

And in business, what is it that gives some people fun?

Is it being able to accumulate more wealth?

Is it being able to take over other companies?

Is it being able to make immense profits?

Is it being able to see others subdued?

Is it being able to back-stab the competition?

Is it being called smart by subordinates?

Is it being able to destroy their competition?

Are these really mechanisms of fun, or are they childish and ignorant mechanisms to destroy any basic Divinity in beings?

For Religious Hierarchies, does having fun mean going out and making more converts by brainwashing them to their system of beliefs, by destroying "heathen" cultures, by destroying foreign religious and spiritual practices and doctrines?

Does it mean having more money?

Does it mean being able to dictate to people from the pulpits?

Does it mean being able to give an account of how many members there are in a particular institution? Does it mean instilling more fear in the people?

To sportsmen, does having fun mean winning all the time or being able to beat others, to suppress others, to subdue others, to overpower others?

Does it mean to be bigger and stronger and to knock them down, to believe one is better?

These are all not really fun but traps for the EGO, and for energy exploitation.

These are phases and people delude themselves that they are having fun.

You have often seen pictures and telecasts of people in so-called "high society" trying to have fun, appearing to have fun. Look at their faces, look through them, look through the charade and see how they are desperately trying to convince themselves and all others that they are having fun.

You know that most of the people portrayed are malicious and evil, and are trying to exploit each other as much as possible for the aggrandizement of the Ego.

That is not fun, that is not existence that one would cherish. That is sheer HELL. You can tell such people are not happy inside. It takes only a cursory glance to realize that this is so.

One simply cannot look at just one individual's lot in life. What about the starvation, wars, genocide, degenerations, oppressions, etc.?

It just seems to be the ability of counterfeit beings and demons to discard everyone else and think of themselves only.

Many are so narrow-minded in their views and so spiritually myopic that they are unable to see the sufferings of this plane. To them Universal Love and Compassion mean nothing.

The suffering of others means nothing. If some of them are involved in aid programs and institutions which do give some little help it is because they are programmed to be there to trap True Beings by other mechanisms or else they find personal benefit in some way.

The Evil Creation feeds on those of the True Creation in this dimension, not symbiotically but very much like a destructive parasite. And as it does so, it thrives while those of the True Creation slowly die.

True Beings cannot have fun under these perilous and fatal circumstances. They are being spiritually assassinated. This is the cruel reality of the effects of evil.

THIS SYSTEM IS CRAZY AND EVIL.

The Legal systems and Judiciary dispense exploitation not justice.

In Henry VI, Shakespeare summed up best what most of us think of these systems: "The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers".

Many of the laws in existence are simply there because they will be broken. This seems a paradox but an explanation will be given. The main reasons for this situation are to cause confusion of the mind, to foster guilt and frustration, to foster acceptance of punishment for transgressions, to cultivate the thought process that the Permanent Atom Being by nature is basically a menace to itself and the rest of nature.

These tend to increase its sense of unworthiness and put it down. A dependence on an outside authority to punish or forgive is allowed to develop. The emotionalism caused by the injustices of this realm exploit people severely.

True Beings are made to forget their Divine Nature. The end result is loss of harmony within and a gradual loss of self-esteem.

Awareness falls in such circumstances, and there is less likelihood of connecting to the Inner Voice of the Divine when one is enraged with the unjust system. Note that this applies to True Permanent Atom Beings.

What Creator would fit man with an emotional body, massive sensual appetites, unlimited opportunities for satisfying these appetites and then make laws prohibiting those satisfactions?

An evil creator would and has! Knowing those appetites cannot be resisted 100%, the evil demigod has developed a sure way of extracting emotional energy. Not only that, it can then punish creatures for not obeying the rules, after making it almost impossible for them to obey. This is the sign of an Evil System indeed!

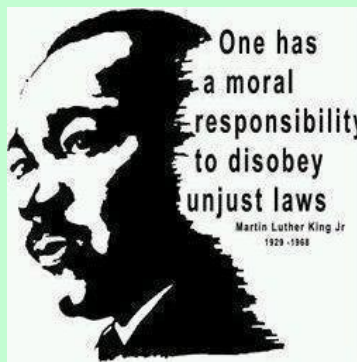

Initially and for a long time, the intention perhaps of many is not to break these ridiculous laws and to repent when transgression occurs. But the evil demigod knows too well when the breakage occurs again and again, people will take it as a "natural thing" for transgressions to occur. This is a well-devised plan to trap and exploit those breaking the laws. And if temporal punishment was not enough, the evil and unjust Law of Karma, which has no room for Divine Forgiveness, operates.

Most resign themselves and say it is only human nature to be weak, to be evil and destructive!

The evil demigod knowingly created this physical body and the emotions to respond to its stimuli. It created the environment which supplies ample opportunities to accommodate the needs and wants of these bodies.

But then to restrict these needs and wants by LAWS which are impossible to obey was a way of gaining control over those who used the bodies. Not only that, it programs the bodies to break the LAWS so it CAN condemn and inflict punishment.

Appeasing the senses with food and sex helps program the body more and more to go against the Inner Divine Nature of True Beings. Food can, and usually does, contain the evil energy it has created and programs the MIND of those bodies to act contrary to the MIND of the SPIRITUAL Beings occupying those bodies!

Sex stimulates the emotional body to act contrary to the Inner Mind. Hence, not only are laws broken, but also a conflict is created in the entity with an outer physical mind programmed by Evil Essences and an Inner Spiritual Mind programmed by the Essences of the Divine Nature!

What can result is more confusion, more uncertainty, more emotion, more loss of awareness, more energy to the evil demigod! When the LAWS are broken, the evil demigod has an excuse for punishing by way of the rules of KARMA. And seeing that it alone is the authority that can tell if the punishments fit the transgressions, it has a free hand to do what it likes.

Alas, Karma has not been dispensed justly. Without the emotional body and instincts there would not be a need for these Laws, for where there is no chance of crime (sin) there is no Law to be enforced and no punishment to be given. Once equipped with these appetites, the outer evil-bombarded mind is then programmed continuously to satisfy them. There is no escape in the physical.

All things manifest through the emotional body which causes energy loss.

Even emotional love exploits.

Ego, avarice, pride, patriotism, nationalism, emotional attachment, arrogance, selfishness, self-aggrandizement, self-gratification, etc., are all admired in one form or another in this rotten dimension.

The majority condemn many things in public, even things such as racism, only to fully support them privately. The above attributes are contrary to True Love and are EVIL.

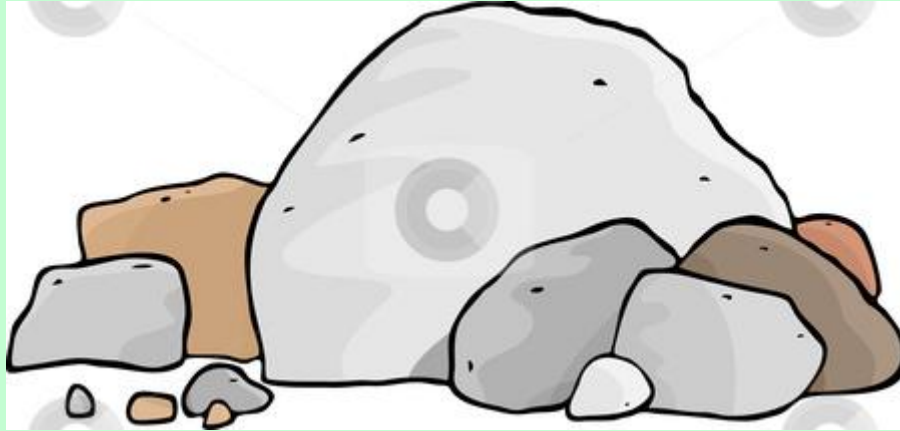

Over time many slowly become immune to the evil they commit. Hence, most think it is a right to kill animals for pleasure, for clothing, for food, to ravage forests, reserves, etc., often for unnecessary commodities and for convenience.

Many even classify the populations of the world into lesser beings because of differences in the colour of the skin, language or bank balance. Society is very evil. Most True Beings have lost a great deal of awareness.

Many consciousnesses have fallen to the lowest class possible before total annihilation. They are in subclass 1 of the mineral kingdom.

Those at this level are lower in awareness than a lump of wood!

This dimension is a no-win situation for True Beings. The situation is corrupt and evil, superimposed on the real Divine System. There is no other explanation for the MADNESS OF THIS WORLD.

The only way out of this mess is to destroy this Evil System totally and forever, and its Creator along with it. There is no doubt this is being done right now.

MY THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK

As one awakens and perceives the evilness of this plane more and more accurately, one tends to tolerate it less and less.

And the suffering is more noted, and it increases. It is perceived more clearly and defined in ever-increasing quantities, even as one awakening is targeted by the Evil System.

Elsewhere I wrote "Enjoy the suffering, for it is unavoidable".

I was not entertaining the thoughts of sado-masochism. I was merely encouraging True Beings to persevere at all costs.

The suffering is unavoidable; it increases as the End approaches, and as one's awareness increases, for one becomes more sensitive to the injustices of this existence.

One must convert the inner feelings to those of Joy in the midst of all this Evil, not because one suffers, but because one makes great realisations even as one suffers.

These realisations include

- The effects of Evil and its mechanisms,
- One's own identity,
- The knowledge of the eventual liberation,
- The eventual existence in an Evil-free environment,
- The knowledge of the total destruction of Evil, and
- The knowledge that each evil being will experience that which it caused the True Beings to suffer.

This is not vengeance but rather True Justice.

After all, evil beings have had countless chances to change their ways and their nature.

POEM

Protect Your Mind

What we are witnessing,
in the whole world we thought we knew,

is a process by which it is becoming inexorably more and more dysfunctional, crazily, insanely, busy,
in every possibly perceived way.

It is the Terminal Madness of the Earth's Endtime,

as I prophesied, everywhere
in robotic, destabilized, Counterfeits and in the unprotected minds of trapped True Beings
which holds sway.

Demons and robots can no longer hide their deceitful and malicious nature, and so, their Depravity in total Evilness openly betray.

But, in the act of going mad, they will be even more hateful and destructive to everyone, even to the likes of you.

Thus, even as they seek your company in supposed friendship
they will, in every way,
try to ruin your day,
at work, at shopping,
on the roads with rage,
even when at what they call mischievously, apparently,
nonchalantly, but not innocently,
the frivolity of pastime or play.

To heed sincerely my timely advice for you now will truly, truly pay.

Protect! Protect your mind carefully, meticulously, fervently, continuously, so that in the midst of all this Madness, alert, safe and truly sane, ready to be evacuated at short notice, you'll stay.

You now know why you must protect, and from my many books, you'll have learned how,
so that in this Endtime,
to its Madness, like a molested
zombie, you will not bow.

Dismiss these brotherly words and you may indeed end sadly, tragically.
Heed well the warning, and you will be rescued in a state living jubilantly, calmly, lucid mentally, and happily.

FROM MY CONVERSATIONS WITH GOD

“But God,

Lots of money would make one happy,
Would it not, God?”

“Alas, nothing of Evil, and remember, money has an evil essence,
Can make anybody happy really, not even evil ones.
Wealthy ones may feign happiness, for a while,
They may even think they are happy, for a while,
But look at them carefully.
In the main, they are nasty, selfish, indignant, ruthless,
Egotistical, bored, dismissive of others, corrupt, etc.
Are those attributes of happiness?”

“Certainly not!”

“In fact, deep down they are even more unhappy
Than those with far less money,
For within them, they know experientially
That money cannot buy happiness.

They have had that part of
The Virtual Reality broken for them.

So, inspite of their loot, they are more miserable
Than those who still have the allusion that Money can buy happiness, and they are happy
To think someday they may be rich and happy.”

THOUGHTS OF A GNOSTIC

GUARD WELL

Each day is a day closer to the end of this miserable place.

No one but the demons who reside in Hell can enjoy this hell-hole.

Do not waste one second, however. Use all your resources maximally to combat Evil and to prevent further exploitation of those of the True Creation.

See any opportunity to combat Evil as your opportunity to fight.

You are responsible for the solution as it applies to you.

In a very real sense, you are working for your own Liberation.

And any effort made will reap great rewards.

Hence, exert yourself maximally.

The cycle of events cannot be stopped.

The destruction of Evil MUST occur.

The thoughts of the Evil Beings that they can stop the Correction are vain attempts at self-delusion. They have doomed themselves to eternal Darkness, having rejected innumerable times the offer to change their evil nature and embrace the Light.

At this time of decay, energy variations in the body occur frequently, even many times in the one day.

Hence, one must guard against attacks by the evil, circumscribing energy pool, for such attacks can and do cause the mind to be stressed by unwanted thoughts.

On such occasions do not allow the physical mind to wander and cause you problems.

Shut it down and await the return of the Higher Consciousness and its energy.

Most True Beings have felt the cold shoulder of rejection throughout their lives.

What would you expect in an evil environment?

The rejection is one of the many programs to make True Beings suffer as much as possible and also to prime them so as to fall into traps set along the way to further exploit them.

With time, there will be a sharper contrast between those of the Light and those of Darkness.

All will be exposed in their ontological nakedness.

The predominant evil energy collectors (such as prostitutes, politicians, channellers, religious heads) and Evil energy emitters (such as rock stars, film stars, so-called charismatic figures, etc.) will be exposed and their activities will be curtailed so that the True Beings will enjoy greater mental freedom, greater insight and further realisations of what has gone on.

This will make their task of escaping the evil traps even easier if they avail themselves of the opportunities offered to them.

You must know that the evil beings will not pat you on the back if you awaken to their hypocrisy.

They will not thank you for breaking their bubble of Illusion.

They will not reward you for breaking out of the traps they have set for you.

They will not stop their ridicule and abuse of you.

They will become even more menacing when they realise you know what they are up to.

The one who awakens and knows what is going on will appear to be the "Johnny out of step", but that is because the evil ones claim they are the "normal" ones.

In fact, they are the ones living the illusion, living the lie, living in self-deception and hypocrisy.

Do not bend!

Do not give in to their attacks of ridicule, of slander, of threats, of molestation.

They are really useless and totally ineffective.

All they can do is taunt and make fun of awakened ones.

But all their mockery will get them nowhere.

They are doomed and know it.

They will not be able to hide this fact forever.

Edgar Cayce is one of ours

He is on Earth, having reincarnated some 40 years ago.
However, he did not have the Gnostic KEY and so many of his explanations, apart from his prophecies and readings, were bunkum.

More than that, that were published by others who understood very little of what he was saying so the result was a mish-mash of half-truths.

If you view this video, you will soon realize the explanations are nonsense.

PLANET X

First aired 2012

Mixed up BS for sure !!

These idiots dishing this BS out are really, really on the ball. Ha ha ha!

They are giving the diameter of the Earth as 24 million miles.

It is actually 8 million miles as any grade 7 student can tell you.

Listen for a laugh.

The other thing they said: Planet X will pass at a distance of 10 Earth diameters.

This would have it 80 thousand miles away.

Planet X is a star!!

It would fry us long before it got anywhere near us.

These chaps need brains with the morning Coke.

From Joy

I know how I was fooled by people who appeared to be helpful and friendly only to find out that they were positioning themselves to undermine me in a big way.

The old adage "fool me once shame on you, fool me twice shame on me." Is definitely a saying in support of Evil as Evil has definitely fooled me dozens of times that I could point to now, but no doubt even more that I am unaware of.

Evil likes for us to bow and live in shame for all the lies that they have provided and that we have fallen for.

I just read the chapter again where Arthur is deceived by Morgana and how it tore him up as he had bought her lie and cut him off from his connection to his Higher Consciousness.

How most of us have been there and been duped and felt the shame for something that we either had no or very little responsibility for.

Evil is ubiquitous.

The Final Word

And so it is that, with the sweet bitterness of temporary separation, we bid each other farewell.

But let us linger not on sadness, or on pain dwell, for we are connected in spirit by these words and their energies as brethren, and that's swell!

Indeed, as the Earl said, parting is sweet sorrow, for the heart yearns for what is ever sincere,
and of love, as these words, have been here.

But the sorrow, of time born, must in itself perish, for all of Chronos' tricks fail to see the end.

Has not Father Zeus delivered all his children?
Who in times like these would not a hand lend?
Even then as we are engulfed by the melancholic loss, we raise the spirit for the Morrow in which renewed shall be our Friendship and our Joy.

There then is the sweetness which thrills the heart and sends minds spinning, as thoughts of future happiness, in a better circumstance, they employ.

Indeed, we seek the end of this exploitative misery and long for the Day of Love, Peace and Ecstasy, when all of us of Love, Hearts True, shall rejoice with unlimited gladness in the Eternal Happiness.

With such thoughts giving sweetness then to our temporary separation, let us contented be, as we look forward to our future meetings with glee.

GOODNITE

Until all Evil is destroyed and we are out of this foul sewer called the Physical Dimension, we will suffer every day in every way.

Can there really be perceivable Light from a torch immersed in a bucket of mud?

Of course not!

The same applies in this foul Earth.

The more a source shines light, the more mud is thrown to cover it.

All we can hope is that a day will come when we will see all the mud transmuted and Light will shine forevermore. And the Shadows will be gone.

Until that day, we will suffer and be apprehensive in the Darkness.

We cannot win against it as individuals.

All we can do is sustain ourselves with the Hope within us until Rescue arrives.
