The civilization destroying Cycle of Evil that has established itself on Planet Earth causes problems throughout the entire Universe at certain points in the Cycle. It spreads and takes control of citizens of the civilizations of other Species in an attempt to introduce the Cycle of Evil into their culture. Needless to say, that does not go over well in Species with stable long-lasting civilizations. Species with sufficiently advanced understanding of how reality works to identify the source of these incursions of evil are the ones with forward operating bases now in our Solar System. Including Species members and independently functioning robotics, they are here in the millions. They are here to implement some means of putting a permanent end to evil spreading off Planet Earth to plague their civilizations. They are waiting for all of the evil souls to return to Earth, ending the current Cycle, to implement their various plans, some of which are quite ingenious. One is a really unique version of timeout that would be unpleasant and permanent. In the meantime, Earth is the one place in the Universe to do economic, sociological, medical, chemical, biological, and physical research on the exact methods and procedures by which evil agendas are accomplished. It should come as no surprise that these circumstances have resulted in varying intensities of hostile attitudes toward Human Beings viewed as having failed to solve the Cycle of Evil problem, thereby inconveniencing all the Species forced to come here to protect themselves.

There is a wide range of technological advancement beyond current Earth technology among the Species present in our Solar System. It ranges from hundreds to billions of years in advancement. (From conversations with William Pawelec, it appears that some of the extraterrestrial methods and procedures I reverse engineered and use are 1200 to 2000 years ahead of Human contemporary science.) The less technologically advanced species are forced to rely on more hands-on and physically destructive processes to collect information, as would we in the same situation. One of the mid-level technologically advanced Species doing the catch-and-release abductions obtain the same information using neural scanning technology and remote medical monitoring with implants as the human mutilators more primitive destructive methods..

I will use a documented apparent human mutilation case to address the aggregate intelligence information that can potentially be derived from the sample tissue and organs removed in this and the concealed mutilation cases of several national governments.

1988 Guarapiranga Reservoir, Sao Palo, Brazil: This example will be used because Police investigation photographs and Official autopsy results exist for the case. The body of a man was found on an island in the Guarapiranga Reservoir in the southwestern part of Sao Palo, Brazil near the current city limits. Translations of sections from the autopsy results and photographs may be accessed at either <http://www.reocities.com/aliengrip/Mutilations/Guarapiranga2-En.htm> or <http://www.alienvideo.net/0805/alien-abduction-mutilation.php>.

Selected translations of sections of the autopsy report describe the injuries.

"EXTERNAL EXAMINATION: We observed: 1) Cut off of the external ear by a slanting incision, with hollowing of soft parts; 2) removal of internal ear with indications of vital reaction; 3) enucleation of right and left ocular globes, with signs of blood inside the cavities" [NOTE: "vital reaction" means the person was alive when the injury was inflicted.]

"8) The left and the right armpit areas exhibit a circular discontinuity [round hole], with 4 centimeters of diameter, with regular borders and hollowing of soft parts, with signs of vital reaction".

"14) Removal of the anal orifice with ample incision, oval shaped, elongated, with 15 cm x 8 cm axis".

"16) We observed the removal of the right and left orbital areas, emptying of the mouth cavity, pharynx, oropharynx, neck, right and left armpit area, abdomen, pelvic cavity, right and left groin area".

"21) Absence of organs In the pelvis and abdominal cavity due to the removal of all viscera, with signs of tearing and vital reaction"

"23) The thoracic viscera (i.e., non abdominal organs) were in their normal place".

"INTERNAL EXAMINATION: ...after opening the cranial cavity using Griessinger technique we found: 17) unimpaired skullcap; 18) cerebral edema". [NOTE: It is not clear what "Griessinger technique" refers to. Wilhelm Griesinger was a German psychiatrist and neurologist, born July 29, 1817, died October 26, 1868 ]

In a case like that, the presence of cerebral edema without direct traumatic origin is a strong characteristic of an agonizing death. In confirmation, the autopsy CONCLUSION explicitly states as causa mortis (cause of the death):

[Cause of Death] "...acute haemorrhage in multiple traumatism. There is a component of causa mortis by vagus stimulation" [implying cardio-respiratory arrest caused by extreme pain]. "The victim shows injuries with vital reaction characteristics, i.e., there is the component "torture". The suggested modus operandi is: incisions in soft parts and natural orifices using sucking devices"

There are a couple of features to note that are common to other reported human mutilations: (1) There are no indications of skin trauma from physical restraints, meaning the individual was somehow immobilized alive while the tissue and organs were removed from the body: and (2) The penis was discolored by trauma inflicted by an instrument of sufficient size inserted to remove the prostrate through the urinary tract of the penis. In other reported human mutilations the entire central nervous system is also removed. The discoloration of skin around the circular wounds may indicate stretching to insert a suction device of sufficient size to remove the internal organs intact at or near their original size and shape.

While cringing at the brutality of human mutilation evidence, you should consider the possibility there may be, in whole or in part, some element of retribution for human treatment of captured extraterrestrials. What we have done to "examine" captured extraterrestrials is neither a matter of public record nor subject to Red Cross inspection. One of the foundation principles of intelligence collection and analysis is secrecy. You collect intelligence secretly so the target does not know they are being spied upon. The fact these bodies are left in places where they can be found and recovered is probably intended to be a powerful message to the Human evil geniuses managing the evil enterprises this Species is bitterly angry about being forced to come to Earth to deal with. The medical evidence indicates these mutilation victims were literally killed by the pain of taking tissue samples and removing their organs while still alive.

THE BOTTOM LINE UGLY TRUTH

I have insight into what this is about because I developed the mathematics, logical foundation, and key technical specifications for human beings to conduct interspecies intelligence collection and analysis. William Pawelec and I discussed what I have developed on several occasions because he was one of the very few people who had some comprehension of the mathematics and logical foundation. We even unsuccessfully attempted to get a prototype neural scanning device constructed through a government program he was aware of using the technical specifications I had identified. It was beyond our technology level to construct.

Interspecies intelligence collection cannot be done without abducting samples and conducting specific examinations of the target Species. You cannot exactly send in a human undercover and expect anything but a disaster. The mathematics and logical foundation are in the following book available on my web page (www.thesociologycenter.com) shopping cart.

HOLOGRAPHIC PARADIGM THEORY OF THE STRUCTURE AND OPERATION OF SOCIAL PROCESSES: A UNIFIED FIELD THEORY OF THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

Abstract

Current micro and macro theories purporting to explain human phenomena are inadequate because they are not logically constructed from processes in physical reality. Based upon the premise that the brain is a biological computer it is possible to state a series of propositions that constitute a new theoretical approach to social phenomena. This theory can be stated in a manner that may also meet Federal Data Quality Act standards and the legal criteria for valid science established in the US Supreme Court opinion for the purpose of admitting expert witness testimony issued in Daubert v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 509 U.S. 579, 113 S. Ct. 2786, 125 L.Ed. 2d 469 (1993). The brain, in processing information about energy modulations that occur outside the body conveyed by the central nervous system, establishes procedures for processing this input. Those procedures which process repetitions of the same energy patterns in the same way constitute biological computer programs and establish meaning. At any point in time the brain has stored a finite number of such programs which constitute a program set. Program sets can be described mathematically and are subject to rules governing set mathematical operations. Phenomena previously identified as "individual" and "social" can be described mathematically using the same concepts. "Personality," "culture," and other concepts may be defined mathematically using set properties. The individual neural structures that constitute a biological program, and are the set members, may be described by n-dimensional fractals, where  $9 \leq n \leq 26$ . The reductionism-holism conflict in the social sciences can be discarded by recognizing that phenomena previously used to support both divisions are a product of the same processes. These phenomena may be described using the union, intersection and differences between program sets. With the ability to mathematically describe social processes at a specific point in time it becomes possible to develop a differential equation that describes social change.

Before anyone starts sending me ugly emails, remember that Human Beings from hunter-gathers to land and marine biologists have been violently abducting members of other species for purposes from barbecuing to vivisection ## for thousands of years.

Here are examples of the methods and procedures I would use given the tissue samples and removed organs indicated above and the intelligence analysis goals of identifying the methods and procedures by which evil agendas are accomplished on Earth so they can be immediately detected if anyone attempts to introduce them into the civilization of this Species. Keep in mind these are summary examples. An actual methods and procedures manual would contain more detailed instructions.

1. [I am assuming this Species is at the lower end of the technology distribution of Species present in the Solar System.] Fix and physically section each organ and the central nervous system. Identify any Human made chemical, radiation, medical or physical element or process present that inhibits optimum individual or aggregate cell functions.
2. Identify all disease processes present and determine if they are naturally occurring, Human made or Human modified.
3. Map the neural structures of the central nervous system across all physical sections. Identify all neural structures that are the result of adverse indoctrination or created to make the individual subservient or limited in functioning. Identify all Human made material present in the central nervous system that inhibits or alters natural neural processes.
4. Identify all Human made material absorbed into the tissue removed from the oral cavity and throat, internal organs and anal tissue. Identify and document any malicious consequences of the Human made material present in the tissue.

This should be sufficient to give you some idea of the purposes these Human tissue and organ samples are being used for.
