

31 Reasons Why the US and Israel Will Inevitably Use Nuclear Weapons Against Iran, and 17 Reasons Why They May Stage a Small False Flag Nuclear Explosion in the US and/ or Israel to Justify Their Actions

By an Academic Geopolitical Analyst, March 20, 2026

Introduction

A recent article titled, "NUCLEAR ATTACK IS INEVITABLE" was posted by Ashes of Pompeii on the website Burning Platform. The author of that posting, who is personally unnamed, gives several reasons in narrative form as to why the US and Israel will inevitably use nuclear weapons against Iran. I started thinking about additional reasons why they might do such a horrible thing, and have developed a much larger enumerated listing of 31 reasons why the US and Israel will undoubtedly resort to the use of nuclear weapons against Iran and attempt to end the war as soon as possible. There are undoubtedly other reasons I have not thought of, but the 31 reasons below are at least a good start. These reasons are in no particular order of priority, and some of the most important reasons are near the end of the list.

Following that list, is a list of 17 possible reasons or “benefits” why the US and Israel may stage a small false flag nuclear explosion on US and/or Israel soil, and blame it on Iran, primarily to justify the use of nuclear weapons against Iran. Such an action, which has already been speculated about by a number of people, would provide many benefits to the US and Israeli Administrations, as long as such a nefarious action can be kept secret and not exposed. These 17 reasons, however, focus on the “benefits” to the US Administration.

All of these reasons are based on media reports, public comments, published scenarios, speculations, reasoning, logic, and just plain imagining of what country leaders and planners might do, if their original plans are not working, they become desperate, and they personally face devastating or dire consequences for their actions if they do not succeed. This also includes consideration of what a theoretical psychopath with almost unlimited power might do to achieve his or her goals, given his or her disregard for any law or civilized behavior, willingness to kill unlimited numbers of people, amorality, deceitfulness, lack of empathy for anyone, including friends and supporters, lack of remorse for any actions he or she might do, and never admitting to being wrong, but always blaming others for any and all of his or her own failings.

Much of the current analysis by expert commentators online seem to implicitly assume that nukes won't be used in this war, since they virtually never mention that possibility, let alone the probability. And they don't even contemplate a false flag nuclear event on US and/or Israel soil to justify the use of nukes against Iran. These two events would invalidate much of the analysis, projections, predictions, and conclusions made by most analysts and commentators. They may wish to consider the many reasons given below for these the use of nukes and a justifying false flag event, as part of a more comprehensive analysis and consideration of the current events in the Middle East and around the world.

31 Reasons Why the US and Israel will inevitably use nuclear weapons against Iran (others may think of additional reasons)

1. Desperation of US and Israel, Currently Losing the War Using Conventional Weapons: The US and Israel, using conventional weapons, appear to be currently losing the war according to many commentators, in that they have not been able to achieve regime change in Iran and install a pliable puppet of the US. This apparently was the original goal, which was believed to be a quick and easy task. In addition, they have been unable to break the will or determination of the Iranian people or to get Iran to surrender. Moreover, the war is having a devastating effect on energy prices all over the world, with the prospect of things getting worse and worse with each passing day, and the pressure to end the war growing each day.. The war appears to be turning into a no-win quagmire, which the US and Israel cannot easily extricate themselves by using conventional weapons. Therefore, if the US and Israel are unable to achieve their objectives in the near future, then out of sheer desperation, it is highly likely that they will resort to the use of nuclear weapons. But that drastic action has to be justified, and so the more desperate the US and Israel become, the greater the probability of a false flag nuke on the US, perpetrated by you know who.
2. Ground Invasion Militarily Untenable: Any attempted ground invasion would probably end disastrously, with many US soldiers killed, and the US being trapped in a quagmire, much like Vietnam, with the only option to do a humiliating withdrawal, as it did in Vietnam and Afghanistan. So if US soldiers are sent in and they start being killed in large numbers, then to avoid the humiliation of the US and himself by a retreat or withdrawal, Trump would probably resort to nuclear weapons.
3. Closure of the Strait of Hormuz: Because of the closure of the Strait of Hormuz, the world is being devastated economically because of the lack of oil, gas, components for fertilizer, and many other commodities. As time goes on this devastation will only become worse, with energy prices increasing dramatically over time around the world, including the United States. In addition, lack of oil and gas will cause businesses and entire industries to slow production or completely shut down, as is already happening. This will not only cause extreme hardship for people in many foreign countries, but also in the United States where people would react negatively, and probably vote in the Democrats during the November elections. Therefore, if the United States cannot defeat Iran and open the Straits of Hormuz by conventional weapons, and has been unsuccessful in getting any European or other nations to help it open the Strait of Hormuz, the US and Israel will probably resort to nuclear weapons to try to destroy Iran and force the opening of the Strait of Hormuz.

4. Increasing US Public Opposition to the War: With mounting troop deaths, and no end in sight, the US public will begin to oppose the war even more than they did prior to the unprovoked attack on Feb. 28, which was around 70% opposition at that time. This would contribute to the risk of Republicans losing the House and Senate to the Democrats in the November elections. Hence, in an attempt to keep the war short and minimize the negative effect on the elections, Trump will probably resort to nuclear weapons.
5. Resilience of the Iranians: Spiritually and eschatologically, the Iranians and Shia in general, are very unlikely to give up and to surrender to whom they perceive to be the Great Satan and the Little Satan. They would rather go down fighting against this perceived evil, than to surrender to it. As a result, Iran is showing great resilience and is refusing to surrender or back down in any way, even though the US and Israel have hit Iran over 1,000 times with bombs and missiles. Since conventional bombs and missiles will probably not break the will of the Iranians, the US and Israel will undoubtedly resort to nuclear weapons in hopes of doing so. But it is uncertain whether even nuclear weapons would cause the Iranians to surrender.
6. Inventory of Defensive Missiles Running Low: The US and Israel are running low on defensive Patriot and THAAD missiles to protect Israel, US bases in the region, and the Gulf countries from Iranian missile and drone attacks. According to reports, inventories are so low that the US is cannibalizing defensive missiles from Korea and Japan, making them more vulnerable to perceived threats from China. As a result of running low or out of defensive missiles, Israel, US bases, and Gulf states will be devastated even more than they already have been. Since even the cannibalized defensive missiles will soon run out, and if conventional weapons cannot stop continued Iranian destruction of Israel, then the US and Israel will undoubtedly resort to nuclear weapons

7. Destruction of Israel by Conventional Weapons: Tel Aviv, Haifa, and other Israeli cities are currently being physically devastated with no end in sight from continuing Iranian bombardment, with the probability that it will get worse as time goes on. The more physical destruction that takes place in Israel, to say nothing of the deaths, the stronger the calls will be by Israel citizens and leaders to put a stop to it, since increasing destruction will result in an existential threat to the very existence of the State of Israel. Hence, if conventional weapons cannot stop the continuing Iranian destruction, Israel alone will probably resort to nuclear weapons in the hope that this would put an end to the devastation of Israel. But it will want the US to participate, even if the US is reluctant to do so. But hey, a small false flag nuclear explosion (suitcase type) on US soil would swiftly end such reluctance.
8. Existential Threat to the Existence of Israel: Netanyahu has indicated or implied that if there is ever an existential threat to Israel by any adversary, that he would use nuclear weapons against such an adversary. Although he or Israel may never have officially admitted to having such weapons, everyone knows that they do. And if he is willing to commit genocide against women and children in Gaza who posed no existential threat to Israel (according to the International Criminal Court) Netanyahu would probably have no problem killing a few million Iranians, who he perceives to be an existential threat to Israel. And he has viewed Iran as a theoretical existential threat to Israel for decades, and has tried to get the US to destroy Iran several times. And if the US and Israel cannot defeat Iran with conventional weapons in the short term, Iran will probably soon acquire nuclear weapons one way or the other. Israel alone, but probably the US as well, will resort to nuclear weapons.
9. Netanyahu's Personal Psychology and Hatred of Iran: Netanyahu psychologically has been a staunch "anti-terrorist" all his life, perhaps cemented by the deaths of relatives and friends. And Netanyahu believes that Iran has been responsible for proxy terrorist attacks against Israel for decades. Moreover, for more than 30 years, Netanyahu has been plotting against Iran, attempting to get the US to attack Iran, killing its leaders, killing scientists, fomenting guerrilla and terrorist activities within Iran, and otherwise trying to destroy Iran. Therefore, just psychologically alone, Netanyahu, after spending a lifetime trying to destroy Iran, cannot bear the thought of "losing" to Iran and not seeing Iran destroyed, especially after all the current devastation of Israel. But if "winning" the war cannot be achieved by conventional weapons, nuclear weapons will undoubtedly be used.
10. Greater Israel Dream Destroyed: If Iran is not destroyed, and Israel and the US can't prevail over Iran conventionally, then Netanyahu's and Zionist politician dreams of creating "Greater Israel" will go up in smoke. And since he and the other Zionist leaders have a Biblically based belief that God gave Israel the land

“from the Euphrates to the Nile”, they cannot psychologically accept anything less than the destruction of Iran, which will prevent that dream from becoming a reality if the Iranian state is not destroyed. If such destruction can't be done with conventional means, nuclear weapons will have to be used.

11. Netanyahu Being Driven from Power and Into Potential Prison: If the US and Israel do not prevail over Iran conventionally, then Netanyahu could be driven from power, tried, convicted, and put into prison for the crimes he was already being charged with, before the October 7, 2023, event. In fact, some commentators have said that he may have allowed that event to happen, so that he could start the war against Gaza, and remain untouchable by the Israeli law enforcement authorities and courts. He certainly doesn't want the “Mussolini Treatment”, which is possible if the Israeli people become greatly enraged by what Netanyahu has done to them and their country. And so, in desperation to save himself alone, he will probably resort to nuclear weapons.
12. Netanyahu's Place in History: Netanyahu does not want to go down in history as the man who wrecked or destroyed Israel, which is happening, and will continue to happen, if the US and Israel do not prevail over Iran with conventional weapons, which appears unlikely. By using a nuclear weapon, if it succeeds in destroying Iran, and stopping the destruction of Israel, Netanyahu would go down in history as the “Savior” of Israel rather than as a villain.
13. Gulf States and Saudi Arabia Pressure on US: The Gulf emirates and Saudi Arabia are urging Trump to destroy Iran as quickly as possible so that it can never threaten or attack the Gulf States again, destroy their infrastructure, destroy their oil and gas production, or shut down the Strait of Hormuz. This all prevents the Gulf States from getting the money from the sale of oil and getting food and supplies in return, and they want to stop the exodus of foreigners from the Gulf, as well. If the Gulf continues to be closed and these countries continue to be devastated, then the US and Israel will undoubtedly resort to nuclear weapons before these countries are completely destroyed.
14. Chinese Belt and Road Initiative: Stopping the Belt and Road Initiative of China is a top strategic priority of the US, and Iran is one of the key countries in that initiative. If the US cannot defeat Iran using conventional weapons, and therefore stop the Chinese from expanding the peaceful Belt and Road Initiative, then this gives the US one more reason to use nuclear weapons to destroy Iran.
15. Russian North-South Corridor: Stopping the Russian North-South Corridor is another top strategic priority of the US, and Iran is the key southern terminal of that Corridor. If by using conventional weapons, the US cannot defeat Iran and therefore stop the Russian North-South Corridor, that gives the US a strong incentive to use nuclear weapons to destroy Iran.
16. Breaking up of BRICS: Breaking up BRICS is another top strategic priority of the US, and Iran is a key member of BRICS. If by using conventional weapons, the US cannot defeat Iran and thereby break up BRICS , then the US will be even more motivated to use nuclear weapons to destroy Iran.

17. Oil Prices Rapidly Rising: In just two weeks since the war began, oil prices have risen from around $60 per barrel to over $100 per barrel. The longer the Strait of Hormuz is closed, the higher oil prices will go, and may reach $200 per barrel. The devastating effect of such high oil prices on world economy, the US economy and people, and the resulting threat of Republican loss in the November elections, will probably cause Trump to resort to nuclear weapons in an attempt to end the war and bring prices back down.
18. Control of Oil to Weaken China: China gets much of its oil from Iran, and the US has long sought to weaken China by limiting its access to Iranian oil. If the US could defeat Iran and install a puppet regime under US control, or otherwise destroy Iran, it could achieve its long sought objective. But if the US can't install a puppet or destroy Iran by conventional means, the US will probably resort to nuclear weapons .
19. Russia's Monetary Windfall: With higher oil prices, Russia, who the US and Western Europe have been trying to destroy economically, but have failed to do so, will enjoy a huge monetary windfall due to the higher prices. And the higher the prices go, the greater the monetary benefit to Russia it will be. So the US and Europe will want the war to be ended as quickly as possible. But if conventional weapons are not working to end the warr, then in order to help shorten or stop this windfall to Russia, the US will resort to nuclear weapons.
20. Iran's New Incentive and Rush to Build or Acquire Nuclear Weapons: This has become the very top concern of the US and Israel, and so they have to attempt to destroy Iran as soon as possible , before it acquires nuclear weapons and neutralizes the US and Israel actions and threat. Both of them know that Iran is now highly motivated to develop or otherwise acquire nuclear weapons to protect itself in the future from any further US or Israeli attacks, since the war would never have started , if Iran had possessed nuclear weapons. And the US and Israel also know that Iran is probably at this moment rushing to secretly develop nuclear weapons itself, oris trying to borrow, buy, or otherwise acquire them from North Korea, Pakistan, or others who have secretly or openly offered to give nuclear weapons to Iran. So time is of the essence, and it is a race against time, where the US and Israel have to stop Iran from getting nukes, especially buying them, which conventional weapons cannot stop. Even a nuclear attack by the US and /or Israel would not be able to stop Iran buying, borrowing, or being given nuclear weapons, even if Tehran, or other Iranian cities were completely destroyed with nuclear weapons by the US or Israel. But in their desperation, the US and Israel will try to destroy Iran before it can acquire nuclear weapons from North Korea or elsewhere.

- 21. Trump's Bully and Narcissistic Personality: There are media reports that Trump is a lifelong bully and narcissist, as well as, reportedly being very vindictive. Apparently, Trump feels he must always win and triumph over every adversary. As such, he cannot stand the thought of losing, especially to someone, or some country he believes to be inferior to the US, such as Iran. If he is unable to triumph over Iran using conventional weapons, he will surely resort to nuclear weapons, rather than admit defeat and be humiliated.
- 22. Risk of Republican Loss of the House and Senate in November, 2026: If the war drags on and oil prices rise dramatically, causing gasoline and food prices to go up substantially, the American people, who already oppose the war by around 70%, will undoubtedly vote the Republicans out of office and install the Democrats in both houses of Congress. If that happens, Trump will be blamed, and so to avoid or reduce the probability of that happening, Trump will have to end the war as soon as possible. But if he will be unable to end the war using conventional weapons, he will undoubtedly attempt to do so with nuclear weapons.
- 23. Risk of Third Impeachment, Conviction, and Prison: If the Democrats take over the House and Senate in November, 2026, there is no doubt that the House will impeach Trump for a historic third time, and the Senate will undoubtedly convict him. And although such conviction would only result in Trump's removal from office, he would still remain liable to face criminal charges and conviction at the federal and state level, with potential prison time. Trump would want to avoid this risk at all costs, and therefore want to end the war as quickly as possible before the November elections. But if he is unable to end the war quickly using conventional weapons, he will likely resort to nuclear weapons.
- 24. Trump's Legacy and Place in History: Trump does not want to go down in history as the man who lost Israel or the entire Middle East for the US, or that the US was forced out of the Middle East by Iran, which he considers to be inferior to the US. That would be personally and nationally humiliating, and he and his family would be forever remembered for that humiliating loss or defeat. He also does not want to be remembered as the only president to be impeached three times, or the only one ever convicted by the Senate and removed from office. This is a real risk for Trump, if the war cannot be won by conventional means, and drags on for months. So to avoid a horrendous legacy in history for himself and his family, Trump has to attempt to end the war soon with the US "winning". But if he can't "win" using conventional weapons, then. In his mind, the only way he can possibly do that is to resort to nuclear weapons. That may or may not work, but he has to try his "Hail Mary" or else his legacy will surely be very bad.
- 25. Loss of US and Israel Hegemony in the Middle East: The destruction of U.S. bases in the Persian Gulf has already puts into question the United States' ability to provide defense to the Persian Gulf Emirates and Saudi Arabia, or any other Middle Eastern ally for that matter, including Israel. If the U.S. is forced to leave the Middle East, this would be a devastating loss for the U.S. and Israel of hegemony, influence, and control of countries and actors in that region. Because of the potential loss of Middle Eastern hegemony, and if the U.S. and Israel are unable to retain that hegemony with conventional weapons, it is highly probable that the U.S. and Israel will resort to nuclear weapons to try to retain that hegemony.

26. Loss of World Image and Face: Donald Trump and other United States officials continue to boast that the US is the most powerful nation in the world, that Iran has been defeated, that it is seeking to negotiate, and that Iran has been all but destroyed, and is all but ready to surrender. These boastful proclamations, however, are exaggerations, and often fantasies, but are useful for propaganda purposes in an attempt to maintain public support, keep oil markets from dramatically rising, or to maintain the image and claim that the US has the “most powerful military that the world has ever known”. The Vietnamese and the Taliban would disagree with those claims for obvious reasons. But to avoid the loss of image as the world’s most powerful nation, and to avoid another humiliating debacle like what happened in Vietnam and Afghanistan, the US will undoubtedly resort to the use of nuclear weapons, if conventional weapons are unable to defeat Iran.
27. Loss of Faith by Europeans, Other Allies, and Countries Around the World: If the United States is unable to defend its most important and staunchest allies in the Middle East, perhaps the most strategic location in the entire world for the US, this would raise questions in the minds of Europeans and other countries around the world as to whether the US would be a reliable defender of their countries. As a consequence, countries who had previously relied on the US for a defense security umbrella may decide to stop relying on US promises of defense and turn to bilateral agreements with Iran itself, China, Russia, and others to maintain their defense and security. In order to prevent this loss of faith, and if it is unable to defeat Iran with conventional weapons, the US will undoubtedly resort to nuclear weapons in an attempt to shore up any lack of faith that may be occurring.
28. Lack of Trust or Belief by Iran in Anything That the US Agrees To: Because the US and Israel made a sneak attack against Iran in the midst of peace talks in June of 2025, and then repeated the same treacherous action during the February, 2026, negotiations, Iran will never trust a thing the US or Israel ever says verbally again, since they apparently used the negotiations as a ruse to put Iran off guard. This, coupled with Trump in 2018 tearing up the signed and UN approved 2015 JCPOA agreement, shows the Iranians and the world that the US can never be trusted. The US knows that it isn’t trusted by Iran, and therefore probably cannot use negotiations as an “off ramp”. However, in its duplicious behavior, the US will keep trying to get a cease fire, will make false promises, agreements, and concessions, and even make false withdrawals, all with the secret intention to return at a later date to “finally” destroy Iran once and for all. But Iran is fully aware of the duplicious nature of the US, and will not fall for these baits again. And so, if the US and Israel can't defeat Iran using conventional weapons or through duplicious negotiations, then they will probably resort to nuclear weapons.

29. Risk of Loss or Collapse of the Petrodollar Scheme: The petrodollar system is a 1970s agreement where Middle East oil-exporting nations, such as Saudi Arabia and the Emirates, to price and sell oil exclusively in U.S. dollars. In return for supposed US military security, those oil producers reinvest profits, or "petrodollars," into U.S. investment like Treasury bonds, maintaining high global demand for the US dollar. This underpins U.S. monetary dominance in the world. In addition, these countries use petrodollars to buy billions of dollars worth of US military equipment, giving the US military-industrial complex billions of dollars of profit, and trillions over the years. If these countries should come under the dominance of Iran, be destroyed, or decide to use a different currency to buy oil, then it would have a devastating effect on the US dollar and economy. If the US can't prevent the dominance of Iran in the Persian Gulf area by conventional weapons, the US will resort to nuclear weapons to maintain or re-establish its dominance and force the continued use of petrodollars.
30. Fear of Loss of Ukraine War: Since the US needs all of the conventional weapons it has, can spare, or scrape together to be used against Iran, the US will have to cannibalize missiles and other conventional weapons from Ukraine, just as it is starting to do with missiles in South Korea and Japan. Weapons shipments promised to, destined for, and even currently stockpiled in Ukraine will be diverted to the Middle East to support the US war against Iran. This will mean that Ukraine will start running out of weapons to carry on its war with Russia, and will probably lose the war to Russia in 2026, unless the Iranian War can be ended quickly and the US can resume weapons shipments to Ukraine. This will be a humiliating defeat for the US and NATO, since everyone knows that Ukraine has just been a proxy of the US and NATO to fight their war against Russia. Because of this, the US will want to end the war with Iran as soon as possible so that it can resume military shipments to Ukraine, that it desperately needs. If the US and Israel can't defeat Iran very soon with conventional weapons, they will undoubtedly resort to nuclear weapons in hopes of hastening the end of the Iranian war.
31. US and Israel Pariah Status in the World: As the US war against Iran continues and the price of oil and gas continues to rise, causing economic hardship and suffering to people and economies around the world, many people and whole countries could blame the US and Israel for starting the war, and begin to revile and loathe Americans, Jewish people, and anything connected with them. The US and Israel would be especially hated for the suffering it caused in a war they started that was unprovoked and voluntarily initiated against Iran during supposed negotiations. This could result in the US, Israel, and their people acquiring pariah status around the world. As such, there could be ongoing attacks for a substantial period of time on US and Israeli embassies, businesses, synagogues, Jewish people, Americans tourists and businessmen throughout the world, forcing them to close down or return home. It could become a pogrom not only against the Jews, but Americans as well, and anyone who looked like an American. Because of this risk, the US will want to end the war in the Middle East as soon as possible, before too much world suffering occurs and pariah status sets in. If conventional weapons are unable to end the war soon, then the US and Israel will undoubtedly resort to nuclear weapons, even though that would also risk pariah status. However, a small false flag nuclear explosion on US soil could prevent pariah status from happening and engender sympathy instead, if the false flag was believed.

Conclusion:

Several of the above reasons are sufficient alone to cause the US and /or the Israelis to attack Iran with nuclear weapons. These would include first and foremost Iran's new incentive and rush to build or acquire nuclear weapons. But also included in sufficient reasons would be the closure of the Strait of Hormuz, the existential threat to the State of Israel, the risk that the US and Israel may lose the war using conventional weapons, and that a several months war would risk a Republican loss of both the House and Senate to the Democrats in the November elections, and the consequent dire effects on Trump and his presidency via impeachment.

There may be other "sufficient" reasons, but the above five, plus all of the other 26 reasons, lead to the conclusion that Trump and the Israelis are in a desperate situation, and in their desperation will undoubtedly resort to nuclear weapons in an attempt to break the will of the Iranians, cause them to surrender, end the war, install a puppet, and enable the US and Israel to retain their hegemony in the Middle East. Whether even one or several nuclear blasts in Iran would be sufficient to break the will of the Iranians and cause them to surrender is uncertain. Whatever the case may be, in the minds of Trump and the Republicans, the war will have to be ended well before the November elections, which means in less than eight months, and with each passing day, their desperation will continue to grow for the above 31 reasons, as will the probability of the use of nuclear weapons.

US-Israel False Flag Small Nuclear Explosion on US and/or Israeli Soil, Blamed on Iran

For all 31 of the reasons noted above, the US and Israel will probably, and sooner rather than later, use nuclear weapons against Iran. But such a horrendous act would have to be justified in some way, and the only way such justification could be made is with a false flag nuclear attack or explosion. A conventional weapon based event, such as 9/11, or something even worse using conventional explosives, chemical weapons, biological weapons, or a radioactive conventional explosion just won't be sufficient to provide the necessary justification.

So as nefarious as it may sound, people in the US and Israeli governments may be planning, or may have already made contingency plans, to do a false flag nuclear explosion on US and/or Israeli soil, using a small nuclear device, in case conventional weapons are not working, to put an end to the war they started. In addition, there are several other geopolitical, economic, political, and propaganda purposes for conducting such a false flag operation.

Some might say that this could be used as a blue-print to carry out the very actions that are being warned against. But according to the Battlefortheworld.com website, Seymour Hersh reported in 2008 that Dick Cheney's office had considered using a false-flag operation in the US designed to provoke a war with Iran, although it is not certain if that false flag plan entailed the use of nuclear weapons. So there is little doubt that military scenario planners have already developed contingency plans for a small false-flag nuclear explosion on US soil, and may have developed such a plan long ago. This would have been done, logically, just in case conventional weapons did not topple the Iranian regime and allow a US puppet to be installed, as the US government apparently thought they would be able to easily and quickly do.

How the False Flag Nuclear Explosion May Be Done on US Soil ( a similar scenario may also be planned for Israel, but I will focus on the US)

If a false flag nuclear explosion is conducted on US soil, one can only imagine how it might be done, but the actual responsible perpetrators can be easily imagined. Based on a number of novels and reports, it would likely occur as follows: It would probably be done in an isolated Midwest town, or more likely, an isolated small town in Maryland or Virginia, not too far from Washington, DC. The small town and its relatively few inhabitants would be “sacrificed for the greater good”. It would be claimed that it was an Iranian “sleeper cell” whose agents were able to cross the US border during Joe Biden's open borders policy, with components and parts to build a small nuclear bomb. This would be plausible, since it has been widely reported that even back in the 1960s, both the US and then Soviet Union had already developed “suitcase nukes” or “backpack nukes.”

It would be said that the sleeper cell was able to assemble the nuclear device in the small town near Washington D.C. and were planning to take it to our nation's capital to destroy it. But while trying to assemble the bomb, it accidentally exploded, thank God, before they were able to get the bomb to Washington DC. But how do we know it was the Iranians, since all evidence would presumably be destroyed in the explosion? Well, again “through the grace of God”, at least one of the passports of the Iranian perpetrators survived the blast, scorched and burned, but still readable, unlike the reportedly pristine passports of the 9/11 hijackers that survived the crash into the Twin Towers, the subsequent explosion, fires, and collapse of those buildings.

17 Reasons why a small false flag nuclear explosion on US soil may be staged, which also provides a number of additional “benefits” to the current administration: (again, similar reasons and benefits would accrue to Israel, if a false flag nuclear explosion were conducted on their soil)

1. Justification for the US to Use Nuclear Weapons Against Iran: First and foremost, the false flag will justify the use of nuclear weapons by the US and its ally Israel against Iran, if Iran cannot be quickly defeated by conventional weapons. The goal will be to put an end to the war, which is having a devastating effect on the US, Israel, and the rest of the world and make Iran surrender, and enable the installation of a puppet in Iran. In addition, the claim of US victimhood and the right of self defense, will provide additional justification to strike back at Iran with nuclear weapons.

2. See, We Told You So: The false flag will enable the Trump Administration to say, “See, we told you so!”, but all of you critics, naysayers, and deniers were too blind or stupid to see it. The Iranians have been secretly working on nuclear bombs a long time, just as we have been saying, and were doing so even before Trump closed the border. And they obviously were planning to use the nuclear weapons against the US all along, and that is why they snuck at least one, and possibly more into the US during Joe Biden's watch.

3. Proof That Iran Was Never Negotiating in Good Faith: Since the Iranians supposedly brought the parts for the nuclear device(s) into the US during the Biden Administration's open borders, the false flag proves they have been working on atomic weapons for several years. If that is true, then the Iranians were obviously leading the US astray and not negotiating in good faith, during the talks of June, 2025, and the recent talks of February, 2026.

4. Justification of Prior Sneak Attacks Against Iran During Negotiations: Since the US was right about the Iranians secretly developing nuclear weapons, it justifies in some way the sneak attack against Iran on February 28th during negotiations, as well as, the sneak attack against Iran last June during negotiations, since the US supposedly knew even then that the Iranians were lying all along, and were just stringing the US along to give them more time to build more nuclear bombs.

5. Galvanization of US Public Support for a Nuclear War Against Iran: The false flag explosion of an "Iranian" nuclear device on US soil, the attempted destruction of the nation's capital, and the killing of innocent town folk, including "women and children", will galvanize US public opinion to support the war against Iran and the use of nuclear weapons, whereas US public opinion is now 75% against the war. A similar thing happened after 9/11 and after the Pearl Harbor attack in 1941, both of which events are believed by many to have been allowed to occur to sway public opinion.

6. Avoidance of US Ignominy for First Use Nuclear Weapons in the Iranian War: The false flag will enable the US to blame the Iranians as being the first to use a nuclear device against the US, and give the US the excuse of "self defense". This avoids the US ignominy of being the first to use nuclear weapons in this war, and puts that ignominy on the Iranians to be born forevermore.

7. Blaming and Demonization of the Democrats: The false flag will enable Trump and the Republicans to blame the Democrats for the nuclear explosion, and demonize them forevermore, for supporting open borders and allowing Iranian agents and sleeper cells into the US with nuclear devices.

8. Justification for a Long Term National Emergency: The false flag will provide a rationale and a justification for a national emergency, perhaps a multi-year national emergency, since it will be claimed that there are probably other Iranian sleeper cells in the US with nuclear bombs that got in under Joe Biden and the Democrat open borders policy. These sleeper cells threaten virtually every US city and town, and we must find them and destroy them before that happens. Since it could take quite some time to find those other nuclear sleeper cells, especially if they don't exist, the Administration would have to keep the nuclear emergency in place, "as long as it takes". Fake intelligence reports would show that, for example, five such Iranian groups got into the US under Biden, and our great FBI has captured groups 2, 3, and 4, but that 5th group is still out there, and is especially elusive. You know the drill.

9. Justification to "Postpone" the Elections in November: The false flag provides a rationale and justification to "postpone" the elections in November due to the "sleeping cell" nuclear threat emergency. But the elections might be allowed to go ahead if after polling, it showed that the Democrats had been so severely demonized for letting in the Iranian nuclear bombers, that the Republicans would win in a huge landslide in the elections. Such a landslide would enable the Republicans to expand the size of the US Supreme Court, just as the Democrats have been threatening, and install conservative judges to put an end to the lawfare and judicial over-reach of Democratically appointed judges. In addition, if the landslide was large enough, virtually any legislation the Republicans wanted could be passed. What a benefit that would be.

10. Avoidance of Impeachment, and Future Charges of Crimes: Whether by election postponement or a landslide victory by the Republicans, the false flag would enable Trump to avoid being impeached a third time and removed from office, and later possibly convicted of crimes and imprisoned. This would undoubtedly happen, if the Democrats took the House and Senate in the November elections due to a US "loss" of the Middle East, and the ensuing economic devastation of the US economy because of the war against Iran that the US and Israel started.

11. Trump Can Become the Hero for Saving the US: Instead of becoming a villain for causing the destruction of the US and world economy due to the war he started against Iran, after the false flag, Trump can become the hero of the US and world for saving Washington, DC, Israel, and other cities around the world that the US will claim that the Iranians were intending to bomb with nuclear devices. And false intelligence and manufactured "evidence" can "prove" all of that. It was through the grace of God that Trump was able to save the US, and proves, once again, that Trump is God's anointed agent here on earth, just as God saved him from the several assassination attempts against him, so far, some of which were supposedly perpetrated by Iranians.

12. Restoration of the US as the Top Hegemonic Power in the World: The false flag enabling the US to use nuclear weapons against Iran, will restore the US as the top hegemonic power in the world, whose hegemony, military power, and image are now declining precipitously, due to the US failure of its war against Iran using conventional weapons. The message will be from now on, "do as we say, or we will nuke you". Assuming that using nuclear weapons will enable the US to prevail over Iran, this also avoids the ignominy of losing the Middle East to the Iranians, and all of the other negative impacts that will befall the US, if it loses control of the Middle East.

13. Justification of a “Temporary” Police State: The false flag will enable the United States government to establish essentially a police state. But it will be sold as only a “temporary” necessity. This will be needed in order to apprehend the sleeper cells out there that will be said to still potentially have nuclear weapons, and enable the US to usher in CBDCs, surveillance everywhere, and all the other characteristics a police state entails.

14. Justification and Mollification of People’s Economic Hardships: Because of the terrible economic hardships that the war and the closing of the Straits of Hormuz will cause for the American people, the false flag will be used to justify that hardship, and be used to try mollify them, as well as, to inspire them "to be strong in the face of adversity", just as Churchill did when London was being bombed by the Nazis. The American people will be propagandized to be tough through all these hardships, and because we've been attacked with nuclear weapons, we have to stick together to defeat this terrible enemy once and for all, again "as long as it takes."

15. Avoidance of the Historical Ignominy of Being the First to Use a Nuclear Weapon in a Conflict: [similar to #6, above, but slightly different] Since 1945, when the US first used nuclear weapons on Japan to destroy Hiroshima and Nagasaki and killed hundreds of thousands of civilians, there has been a strong international taboo against being the first to use a nuclear weapon for any reason. Such first use, especially in a war that was unprovoked and voluntarily started by the US and Israel against Iran during negotiations, would result in future historical ignominy of the US and Israel forevermore. The false flag nuclear explosion on the US and Israel attributed to Iran will exonerate them because of the “self defense” excuse, and avoid such ignominy, as long as the false flag is kept secret and not exposed.

16. US and Israel Hoped for Avoidance or Mitigation of Pariah Status: If the US and Israel were to first use nuclear weapons against Iran, especially in a war that was unprovoked and voluntarily started against Iran during peace negotiations, this could result in the US and Israel acquiring pariah status around the world. As such, there could be ongoing attacks for a substantial period of time on US and Israeli embassies, businesses, synagogues, Jewish people, and Americans throughout the world, forcing them to close down or return home. The false flag nuclear explosion on the US and Israel attributed to Iran could avoid or mitigate such pariah status, as long as the false flag is kept secret and not exposed. But most people of the world will realize that all of the suffering could have been avoided in the beginning, if the US and Israel had not attacked Iran without provocation. So the US and Israel may not avoid condemnation and pariah status even with a false flag nuclear explosion on the soil of one or both of them.

17. Silencing of prior, current, and future critics of the war against Iran and US government officials, policy makers, and advocates: The false flag nuclear explosion on U.S. soil will be used to silence all political, media, and regular people's criticism and opposition to the Iranian war and the use of nuclear weapons. Those who have expressed strong opposition to the war in general, or to the US attacks on Iran in February of 2026 and June of 2025, or to subsequent US government policies or laws of any kind as a result of the false flag attack, or opposition to Donald Trump in any way will be demonized as treasonous traitors, anti-American, anti-Semites, Iranian sympathizers, and quislings of the worst type. Many will be charged with treason, which has the death penalty, which has already been suggested by some for Tucker Carlson, even before the false flag event. And other administration critics will be charged with other crimes with long prison terms, with such criticism being labeled as misinformation and/or disinformation and a "threat to national security". Almost all people in the US silenced fear of those consequences, or lesser, personally devastating consequences, such as loss of job, loss of licenses, fines, confiscation of bank accounts, and similar things that happened during the Covid pandemic.

Epilogue:

Despite the lies, inaccuracies, false logic, and inconsistencies of the government "Baghdad Bobs" and their media propagandists, and due to the intentional dumbing down of Americans in general, most of the people in the United States will probably believe and accept the false flag action as done by Iran, and rally around the flag, just as happened after 9/11. This will be made much easier, because of the preprogramming of the people about sleeper cell threats by the Iranians, the demonization of Iran, and other pre-programming activities of the news media, government, and other sources. Moreover, the US and Israeli governments will be able to carry out most, if not all, of their agendas, which the false flag(s) will enable them to do. And most Americans, and much of the rest of the world, will docilely accept all of this, and "move on with their lives" as best they can to keep their families alive during the devastating economic times to come.

But many people will not accept this horrific travesty caused by the US and Israel, and since they will have little or nothing to lose, they will fight back in any way they can. Because of this, there may be revolutions against government leaders who supported the US and Israel and civil wars, especially in the Middle East. In addition, there may be sustained attacks against Americans and American interests around the world. Moreover, there is no doubt that there will be millions of refugees caused by this war, and a huge influx of them into Europe. There are many other terrible consequences of this war that will occur, but I will leave that for others to discuss.

I hope that I am proven completely wrong about what is probably going to happen. But the overall situation within the US and Israeli governments is becoming very desperate, due to what is happening on the overall battlefield of the Middle East, and the economic situation of the entire world. And in that desperation, the US and Israel, unable find an off-ramp, and unable to accept defeat and the resulting humiliation, will undoubtedly resort to these horrendous actions.
